VIKING RESISTANCE — Circleville's Pat McNaughton 34 is met head-on by Mike Reed 65 of Teays Valley as Lance Henson 31 moves in to add defensive support. The Vikings went on to win the contest, 15-14, on a fourth quarter field goal by Steve Williams. Teays Valley also won the battle of statistics, rolling up a total of 298 yards to Circleville's 155.

Cuban Watergate Defendants Ask For New Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four Cuban-born Watergate burglars say they were deceived into pleading guilty to protect what they thought were national security operations and have asked for a new trial.

In a petition filed Friday with U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, the four asked to change their guilty pleas to innocent and requested a jury trial.

Arrested inside Democratic National Committee headquarters, June 17, 1972, the four pleaded guilty on Jan. 15, during the second week of their trial and have been awaiting final sentencing by Sirica. Pending review, he had sentenced them provisionally to the maximum terms of 55 years in prison and fines of $50,000 on charges of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping.

The four, all of whom had been living in Miami, are Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez. They are imprisoned at the federal penitentiary, Danbury, Conn.

Their petition said the guilty pleas were "false and involuntarily entered under the force and compulsion of a belief that the necessity to protect national security interests precluded them from asserting the defenses they had to the charges against them."

"The pleas were premised on false assumptions which had been fostered on them by others, including co-defendant E. Howard Hunt Jr. and, ultimately, high officials in the executive branch of the government," their motion said.

On Jan. 15, the four fired their original lawyer, Henry B. Rothblatt, who would not let them plead guilty. The court assigned a lawyer for the guilty pleas and the four men later hired attorney Daniel Schultz, who filed Friday's motion.

Before accepting the guilty pleas, Sirica closely questioned each man about whether any promises had been made to induce the plea or whether anyone threatened or coerced them into it.

To each question, the men answered no.

Hunt had pleaded guilty a few days earlier. The other two defendants, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., stood trial and were convicted by a jury. Liddy had appealed his conviction.

Reds Encircle Cambodia Villages

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Communist-led insurgents today encircled two government villages across the Mekong River northeast of Phnom Penh, according to Cambodian navy officers.

The officers said the insurgents had surrounded the provincial capital of Vihear Suor, 13 miles from Phnom Penh, and Kroch Souh village, four miles from the capital. They said the government was sending reinforcements by boat to the river.

More than 100 wounded government soldiers were awaiting evacuation from Vihear Suor, but heavy shelling prevented helicopters from picking up the wounded, the officers said.

An estimated 500 government troops were in Vihear Suor, and about two companies were reported in Kroch Souh.

At a daily briefing, the command also reported that insurgent sappers infiltrated the perimeter of Phnom Penh early today and set off explosives at a ferry crossing, wounding nine persons.

About 10 minutes later, police said, a terrorist hurled a hand grenade into a crowd at another ferry crossing and injured three persons.

Meanwhile, government troops were reported moving against Communist-led forces in the battle-scarred provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Col. Am Rong, the command's chief spokesman, said the troops were meeting heavy caliber fire from Khmer Rouge gunners entrenched in the northwest corner of the city, Cambodia's third largest.

A diplomatic source in Phnom Penh said the Khmer Rouge over the last few weeks have initiated an increasing number of skirmishes around the capital's perimeter because the government's attention was on the fighting in Kompong Cham.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon government reportedly has massed more than 3,000 troops near the central coast in anticipation of a renewed Communist push to isolate the country's five northern provinces.

113,000 Auto Workers Strike At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler production of 1974 cars and trucks halted today when 113,000 United Auto Workers union members struck United States and Canadian plants after time ran out on contract talks.

Bargainers from both sides insisted the strike was not triggered by any single issue.

The strike left Chrysler with just 122,000 of its new cars and trucks ready for sale while assembly lines kept rolling at its two major competitors, General Motors and Ford.

"It suddenly was the 14th of September and we were a long way from home," UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Friday night almost an hour before the 11:59 p.m. strike deadline.

The strike against Chrysler Corp., the nation's fifth largest manufacturer and No. 3 in the domestic auto industry, closed 56 auto plants in 21 states and Canada.

But 14,200 union members at Chrysler kept working, 11,000 of them white collar workers the UAW decided to keep on the job since they were not involved in auto production. The other 3,200 are at plants in Kokomo, Ind., and Van Wert and Fostoria, Ohio which produce parts for other automakers.

A last-minute company request that the current contract be extended was rejected. Woodcock had said repeatedly there would be no extension unless there was an agreement in principle.

The strike is the first against Chrysler since 1950, when the union closed company plants for 104 days. That strike, the auto industry's second longest, obtained company paid pensions for UAW members.

The current strike against Chrysler hits the Detroit area heaviest because 93,500 of the firm's workers live in the city or its suburbs. Initial union strike benefits total $30 to $40 weekly.

While working, union members earn an average of $5.12 per hour during the first 40 hours of each week.

Work Ills Now Called 'Epidemic'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A strange crippling disease affecting employees of the Columbus Coated Fabrics plant was described by a state doctor Friday as one of the biggest "epidemics of this kind of occupational illness."

Dr. Donald Billmaier of the Health Department's Occupational Health Division said the nerve illness, which hits the extremities of the body, had been diagnosed as "peripheral neuropathy."

So far, 28 employees, most of whom work in the plant's print department, have been affected by the disorder. Billmaier said most of the cases were "mild to moderate." Doctors don't know if the crippling effects are permanent.

Billmaier said cause of the illness has not been determined, but doctors suspect it is a solvent being used in the print department.

He said another 40 employees, including 20 who work in other departments, were to undergo tests.

Meanwhile, print department employees who belong to Local 487 of the Textile Workers of America were to decide at a membership meeting today whether to return to their jobs.

Jury To Ponder Agnew Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson will let a federal grand jury consider material from an investigation of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew but still has not decided to seek an indictment, sources close to the case report.

The sources said Friday night that Richardson has decided only that it is appropriate for the grand jurors in Baltimore to consider information about Agnew gathered so far in an investigation of alleged kickbacks by contractors and architects to Maryland politicians.

The sources said there was no indication when the continuing investigation of Agnew would be completed. The vice president has described as lies allegations that he took kickbacks in return for awarding contracts while he was Baltimore County executive and subsequently governor of Maryland.

Earlier Friday, Dale Anderson, the first Maryland official indicted in the scandal, pleaded innocent in Baltimore to charges of bribery, extortion and conspiracy.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Justice Department spokesmen began saying "no comment" instead of their usual "no" when asked whether Richardson had made his decision to seek an indictment of Agnew.

The sources said the decision to let the grand jury see the results of the Agnew investigation apparently was behind the change in official comment.

In August Richardson had advised Agnew by letter that he would have an opportunity to meet with prosecutors before a final decision was made in his case. The sources said they were unaware of any such meeting or any contact between Richardson and Agnew.

Agnew's press aide, J. Marsh Thomson, said he did not know of any recent meetings between Agnew and Richardson. He also said he was unaware of any recent developments in the case.

overtime. Currently, overtime is mandatory.

Other key union demands still awaiting settlement include an unspecified wage increase, allowing workers to retire with full pension at any age after 30 years in the plants, boosting pensions from $500 to $650 per month, company-paid dental insurance and making plants safer.

Free Transit For Poor Being Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal transportation report urges free rides for the nation's nearly 2.7 million urban handicapped and elderly poor.

The recommendation came Friday in a Department of Transportation study, which said that cities receiving mass transit funds should be required to make their bus and rail lines more accessible to the handicapped and elderly.

The report was prepared jointly by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) and the Transportation Systems Center.

The Federal Aviation Administration also has announced it is investigating air transportation for the handicapped.

The FAA says there currently are no uniform rules on air transportation of the handicapped. It says it plans to determine what safety rules should be instituted.

UMTA says there are 13.4 million handicapped Americans who would experience difficulties in riding mass transit. It said about five million of them live in urban areas where more than eight per cent of the working people ride mass transit to their jobs. Another 5.5 million live in urban areas where less than eight per cent of the population rides transit facilities, it said.

The agency says elderly and handicapped persons have trouble using transit facilities because of such physical barriers as long stairs in terminals and high steps entering buses and rail transit facilities.

In addition there are operational barriers, such as acceleration-deceleration and frequency of service, the agency said.

"Most of the nation's transit systems — both rail and bus — are barrier-ridden (in terms of physical dimensions) and of limited use to the handicapped and elderly population," the report says.

Snow Covers Yellowstone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow whitened sections of Montana and Wyoming today while many Eastern states remained soggy from heavy rains.

Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming was expected to accumulate 8 inches of snow by noon today and 4 inches already cover Lewistown, Mont.

Rivers were on the rise in Maryland after Washington, D.C., was drenched by nearly 4 inches of rain Friday.

The rainstorms swept from the Middle Atlantic states into southern New England.

Baseball-size hail pounded the Nebraska Panhandle in thunderstorms Friday night. But, in between the isolated storms, fair skies were widespread from the Pacific states to the eastern Great Lakes region.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 30 at Butte, Mont., to 88 at Needles, Calif.

School Children Lose Extra Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's school children will be drinking less milk at school this year because of a $75 million budget cutback in the federal milk program, figures released by the Agriculture Department show.

The figures project a decline of about 18 per cent in milk consumption. Assistant secretary Clayton Yetter, who oversees the federal food programs, put the total at about 5.5 billion half-pints of milk for the 1973-74 school year.

The department's Food and Nutrition Service told reporters that 6.5 billion half-pints were served last year.

When the Nixon budget was announced last January, the department served notice that a popular "special" milk program costing about $100 million a year would be trimmed to $25 million beginning July 1.

The special program, supported strongly by milk lobbyists and Congressmen from dairy areas, had provided federal assistance to schools serving milk during snack breaks. The servings were in addition to milk provided with regular school lunches or breakfasts.

Presently, only children in schools without regular meal service are getting milk under the USDA program.

Shaving Of Legs Blocked By Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus barber shop's new service of shaving women's legs was ordered halted Friday by the state Board of Barber Examiners.

The agency notified barbers Wayne Bump and Denis Ashbaugh they were "not licensed to do anything except on the head, face or neck."

A spokesman for the board said the barbers had agreed to quit and there would be no penalty.

Chilean Junta Defends Necessity Of Coup

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The military junta says it took over Chile's government because Marxist President Salvador Allende had done nothing to stop thousands of extremists from infiltrating the country.

The claim was the junta's first major statement on the reasons for the bloody military revolt Tuesday that toppled the government and resulted in Allende's death.

Earlier, the junta had indicated that Allende had concentrated too much political and economic power in his hands.

The junta's minister of the interior, Gen. Oscar Bonilla, told a news conference on Friday that Allende permitted "10,000 foreign extremists to enter our country," including Mexicans, Cubans, Hondurans, Argentines and Uruguayan Tupamaros.

Bonilla also said the nation eventually would be returned to constitutional government but did not elaborate.

Allende's widow said in Santiago early today that she would accept an offer of political asylum from Mexico and then "tell the truth about the dictatorship" in Chile.

"I will tell how there is a military junta ruling the destinies of the country as a dictatorship without constitutional liberties. We don't know how many persons have been jailed, killed," she said in a telephone interview with a Mexican television network.

Meanwhile, the junta ordered a roundup of "Chilean and foreign extremists" and hundreds were reported arrested. Others sought asylum in embassies or fled the country.

The military regime said its forces were meeting only disorganized resistance from holdout supporters of Allende's government and could claim solid control of the country. Scattered shots continued to be heard in the capital Friday night, the quietest night since the coup occurred. The Chilean frontier remained closed, and news dispatches sent abroad continued to be censored.

There are no firm figures on the number of people killed in the fighting, but the death toll is estimated to have reached 1,000.

Retired Gen. Carlos Prats went on television to deny claims by Chilean exiles in Argentina that he had organized a resistance army in southern Chile. Prats said he has engaged in no public activity since he resigned as army commander and minister of defense last month.

Thousands of Chileans took advantage of an 8½-hour break in the curfew Friday and strolled about the battler-scarred capital. Many tried to buy food but found numerous shops still closed and others in short supply of goods.

A tour of the city showed gaping holes in office buildings and thousands of broken windows as a result of fighting since the coup. The presidential palace, where the junta said Allende committed suicide, was damaged heavily.

Mrs. Allende was quoted by a Mexican television newsmen as saying in a telephone interview Friday night, "I believe that he committed suicide with the machine gun presented to him by Fidel Castro.... He had told me before he would. He said he would never leave La Moneda (the palace) as president and that he preferred to commit suicide."

Ear Corn Harvesting Helps Drying, Storage Problems

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Harvesting ear corn and storing it in ear corn cribs (permanent or temporary type) may be a worthwhile practice this year for many farmers in Ohio, suggest Delbert M. Byg and William R. Schnug, Extension Agricultural Engineers at The Ohio State University.

With the uncertainties of fuels for crop drying and the risk that storage facilities for sheltered corn may fill up quickly and be transported out slowly, ear corn storage is one easy way to hold corn on the farm and avoid the depressed market price at harvest time, the engineers add.

According to Schung, ear corn can be picked and stored at a grain moisture of about 30 per cent, provided no ear of corn is more than 2 feet from outside air. This means that cribs four to five feet wide, located in an open area with full exposure to prevailing winds, will satisfactorily store corn without forced air drying or heat. For wider cribs, air ducts can be provided as needed for natural air ventilation. Fan ventilation with unheated air is recommended for drying ear corn in larger volumes and - or in wider cribs.

According to Byg, there are still large numbers of ear corn picked in Ohio. Data from the 1969 census reveals that Ohio had 36,472 corn pickers as compared to 11,802 corn heads for combines on class one to five farms. In recent years, corn heads have outlasted corn pickers by about two to one in Ohio, but corn pickers still constitute the greatest number of corn harvesting machines on hand. So, using your corn picker or renting one should not be difficult, Byg believes. There are also many ear corn storage structures standing idle on many Ohio

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Before you know it, those little scale insects sneak in and load up your azalea and rhododendron plants. So you better give them more than a casual glance as you walk by. The azalea bark scale may have the main twigs infested now with a slim like white thread. And, you'll probably notice a lot of sooty mold on the foliage, too. This is growing on the honeydew produced by the scales. You may be a little late to control azalea bark scale now. Sevin, malathion or Zectran applied in mid-June when the crawlers are present is the best time to get the control job done.

If there's a hackberry tree anywhere near you, no doubt you have been bothered by hackberry bugs.

You'll recognize the hackberry nipple gall by the little bump on the upper surface of hackberry leaves. Inside the little green cylinder-shaped gall is a little bug. It is called the hackberry psyllid. Very soon now the psyllids will leave their homes and make their presence known until the first frost.

These pests are small enough to pass through your screens, and on cool evenings you'll see them slinging by the hundreds on the window screens. If you have clothes hanging on an outside line, they'll be covered, too.

You could spray the trees with lindane or Sevin, but they are probably too large for home equipment. Next spring, in May, is a good time to spray for best results. On the screens, about all you can do is apply a residual spray or use an aerosol spray and knock them down periodically. If you hang on a while, they'll be gone after the first good frost.

If you have a few backyard fruit plants, now is no time to let up on the protection program. Apple maggots, codling moths, and grape berry-moth adults are emerging and can turn your fruit into culls, if final protection sprays are not applied. Be careful to observe harvest restrictions. Stop spraying two weeks before harvesting.

'Cotton Picker' Given Gloves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird received a pair of white gloves today as a joking gift from Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, who advised him to "keep his cotton pickin' hands off economic policy."

Shultz made the comments in Tokyo after Laird held a White House news conference and reported that President Nixon was talking about the idea of some refundable income taxes.

Laird got the gloves from Deputy Secretary of the Treasury William Simon.

farms. Owners might put them to good use this season by filling them with their own ear corn or renting them out for use by their neighbors.

More details on harvesting, drying, storing and marketing are available in Extension Bulletin 502, available at the County Extension Office. Plans for building ear corn storage are also available from the Extension engineers of the Agricultural Engineering Department at Ohio State.

Aerial Seeding Of Wheat Reduces Weather Hazard

By George Hamrick
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Last year's extremely rainy fall caused a number of farmers to consider aerial seeding of wheat, because soft ground made conventional seeding impossible. The increased acreage planned for wheat by Ohio farmers could make seeding wheat difficult again this fall if the weather should be adverse.

According to Gordon J. Ryder,

4-H On The Go

Prepared by Ruth Uland

The 4-H Junior Leaders Club will soon resume meeting at the 4-H Grange Building. "What or who" are 4-H Junior Leaders? They are older, more experienced 4-H'ers, fourteen or older. The Junior Leader's basic job is to encourage younger 4-H members to assume leadership responsibilities, help them with their projects, and to assist in carrying out the local and county 4-H programs.

The Junior Leaders work under the guidance of the local adult advisors and the County Extension Agents.

In addition, they must be willing to accept responsibility, get along with others, be willing to learn more about leadership, be cooperative and willing to share. All of this sounds like hard work but it is also fun and provides an opportunity to meet other young adults from all of the county schools.

Members will be notified by mail of the next meeting.

I'm sorry to say this is the last time I'll get to talk to you through the newsletter. I'm returning to Ohio State University fulltime to study for a Master's degree. It has been a fun three years and I'll always cherish the friendships I've had in Pickaway County.

If you open a can of chili con carne and it looks like it has a lot of meat in it-it tastes like it, too-but some of that "meat" could be textured vegetable product ("TVP" for short.) You can tell if it is — or not—by the ingredient statement.

A description of TVP comes down to two easy words: versatile and nutritious. TVP can be processed so that it has the taste, look, and texture of meat. When used instead of cereals and other starch-based binders, TVP can increase the protein content of foods. The quality of the protein in nonsupplemented TVP is not as good as actual meat protein, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says. But, TVP costs considerably less than meat, too.

It is difficult to distinguish between TVP and meat in processed foods like chili con carne, meat stew, meat loaf, hash, spaghetti, and other kinds of meat sauces and gravy, so USDA has proposed new regulations which would require products whose appearance and taste are enhanced by TVP to carry names that tell the consumer.

Chili con carne, for example, must contain at least 40 percent meat under Federal Meat Inspection regulations. Under the proposal, chili con carne would still have to meet this requirement. A manufacturer meeting this requirement and adding more than 3 percent large-particle TVP to his formula would have to label his product "chili con carne with textured vegetable product." If he adds coloring to that TVP, he'd have to tell you that in the product name, too.

If he uses TVP particles, he could add them in any amount and still call his product "chili con carne." But — in either case — he would have to list the specific TVP ingredients in the ingredient statement on his labels.

ASCS Officials Explains New Farm Legislation

"The new farm bill contains provisions which will encourage farmers to produce more grains and other crops the marketplace demands," according to Paul Moore, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

Moore outlined the basic job of the farm program agency in carrying out the provisions of the new law, titled the

Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, and enumerated some of the new concepts in the 1973 bill. He also noted that the 1973 Act, signed into law by President Nixon August 10, replaces the Agricultural Act of 1970, which expires December 31, 1973.

Moore said, "Our job will be to execute the new bill's provisions in such a way as to encourage a level of agricultural production which will assure ample supplies of food and fiber for American consumers and for growing export sales opportunities. Under the provisions of the new law, farmers will have more freedom to use their resources in the way they feel will earn them the most income from the marketplace." He also pointed out that farmers incomes will be protected through commodity loans which assist producers in marketing their crop in an orderly manner.

"Also adding income protection," Mr. Moore said, "is the new target prices feature of the bill. The guaranteed price provision offers income assurance to farmers by triggering deficiency payments when market prices fall below the target levels. The guaranteed prices for 1974 and 1975 are $2.05-bushel for wheat and $1.38-bushel for corn. The 1976 and 1977 target prices will be adjusted to reflect changes in farm costs and yield levels.

"Another form of income assurance offered to farmers," Moore said, "will be payment to eligible producers prevented from planting or harvesting crops by natural disasters.

"The bill also authorizes the continuation of a program to offer cost-sharing assistance to farmers for conservation projects. This feature establishes long-term, permanent conservation practices under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program and the Water Bank Program.

"The new law provides that the total amount of payments a person may receive under one or more of the wheat, feed grain programs may not exceed $20,000."

Services and programs are made available by ASCS without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Anniversary Tribute

DEAR ABBY: I shall never forget hearing you speak before the Independent Life Insurance Company's convention in New Orleans. When you read that beautiful tribute to your husband, which you published in your column on your 25th wedding anniversary, we ladies and gentlemen in your audience counted our blessings as you counted yours.

After your talk, I asked you how I could get a copy of that tribute, and you told me to write to you and you'd send it to me.

Instead of doing that, I'm asking you to please print it in your column again, so all your readers can read it, and have a copy, too. We loved you!

JEANNE GREGORY
JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DEAR JEANNE: Flattery will get you everywhere. Here it is:

"Today is a very special day for me. It's my 25th wedding anniversary, and I have this to say: I had a mother and father who really loved each other, so I know what love is.

I have worked hard to see two teenagers safely through their traumatic teens, so I know what satisfaction is.

I have prayed. And my prayers have been answered, so I know what faith is.

I have had by my side, the kindest, gentlest, most considerate human being I've ever known, so I know what happiness is.

And because I've known all these things... I know what wealth is."

MRS. MORTON PHILLIPS

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law, who is a widow, has two children, my husband and his sister. Mom travels a lot, and she always brings home souvenirs for my sister-in-law and me.

Here's the problem; mom always give my sister-in-law and me identical gifts, and consequently my home is full of the same objects as my sister-in-law's.

Mom is going on another trip soon, and I know she'll be shopping for gifts for us, and I hate the thought of getting another one of those "twin gifts."

Should I drop a hint before Mom leaves and hope she catches on? Or should I be quiet, and pretend I'm pleased when she gives me and my sister-in-law identical gifts again?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: The poor mother-in-law just can't win. In order to show no favoritism between her daughter and her daughter-in-law she buys you identical gifts, and what does she get? Complaints! Don't "hint" for something "different," because no matter what you get, you'll probably think your sister-in-law's is better.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old son got his 15-year-old girl friend pregnant. My son and the girl's parents want me to give my consent for these two kids to marry. I just can't do it because I would feel like I was ruining three lives.

The kids are nowhere near mature enough for marriage, neither are they financially able to care for themselves, let alone a baby.

Do you know of anyone I can get to talk to the girl's parents? Abortion or adoption would be much better for everybody. Please help me.

CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

DEAR CAN'T: Perhaps your clergyman can talk to the girl's parents. Your local Planned Parenthood also offers free counseling service. They will NOT try to persuade anyone who does not want an abortion to have one. They simply counsel, and will guide them in adoption procedures if that is their choice. Good luck.

$4.2 Million Local Government Funds Returned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today more than $4.2 million in local government fund money for September has been returned to Ohio counties and the 318 municipalities having local income taxes.

Cuyahoga County led the list of counties receiving funds with $885,068.05. Cincinnati led the cities with $45,055.30.

The state auditor's office said the September total was $805,000 more than last month's figure.

The money is derived monthly. It represents 3.5 per cent of state collections of personal, corporation and sales taxes during the preceding month.

High School Course In Death Proves Popular With Students

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A visitor to Hug High School might well be surprised to overhear a pupil tell a pal, "I'll meet you after death."

No problem, it's the name of the school's newest course.

"Death is one of the most critical moments that we face," said Tom Summers, a high school teacher who thinks Americans have little knowledge of dying.

Summers, chairman of the school's English department, started a course on dying this semester because "ignoring preparation for it is ridiculous."

About 160 students signed up for five sections of thanatology, making it one of the school's most popular electives.

The first unit will deal with medical, legal and religious definitions of death, with lectures by doctors, lawyers and clergymen.

For the second unit, the classes will study the vocabulary of death, including euphemisms such as "passed away."

Other units will deal with funeral customs, wills and testaments, war and death, old age and suicide and the prose, poetry, drama and music associated with death.

The 48-year-old Summers, bearded with wire-rimmed glasses, sees the course as a means for students to gain knowledge about death "in a rational

The response to the course from students and national attention on books such as "Love Story" that deal openly with death are indications that the nation is starting "to come to grips with death," Summers said.

Judge Fines Self For Being Late

GRAY, Ga. (AP) — Superior Court Judge George L. Jackson has assessed himself a $25 fine for being late to a session of court.

Jackson was surprised Thursday when he entered his courtroom and found that the district attorney and a county grand jury had been waiting 15 minutes for him.

The judge said he thought the court session was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. and noted that he often had assessed fines against other people for being late.

"You're supposed to be there when court starts and I didn't have any excuse — none whatsoever," he said in fining himself.

Oysters In Season

Despite its sedentary habits, the oyster leads a perilous life, from spawning to harvest. The succulent mollusks are again in season. But the oysters found in stews, scalloped, pan-fried and fried dishes account for only a tiny minority of the enormous potential supply.

For every oyster that lives to maturity, a million or more are lost, the National Geographic Society says. Natural enemies gobble up the larvae as they swim about for a brief period of freedom before attaching themselves to some solid object at the bottom of a bay or estuary. After the "setting," predators get to the soft body behind its armor of shell.

Mussels may starve a whole oyster colony by growing over it and cutting off the food supply — the microscopic plant and animal organisms the oyster filters from the many gallons of sea water it pumps in and out of its shell each day.

Sharp temperature change may also kill the bivalves. Too much or too little salt in the water is a hazard. Polluted water may infect them or retard growth. Yet the prolific oyster has survived from the earliest times. That it has long provided food for man is proved by huge mounds of shells left near pre-historic settlements along European and American shores.

The Chinese cultivated oysters in the pre-Christian era, and the early Romans regarded them as a great delicacy. Today, scores of oyster species grow in natural or cultivated beds from China and Japan to northern Europe and South Africa.

The United States is by far the world's leading producer and consumer, though output has dropped sharply from the nineteenth century high mark — the result of over-harvesting, pests, pollution and wasteful operations.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Sept. 15th, the 258th day of 1973. There are 107 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, Konrad Adenauer became the first chancellor of West Germany.

On this date—

In 1777, the Polish aristocrat Count Casimir Pulaski was commissioned a major general in the American revolutionary army.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs changed its name to the Department of State.

In 1812, the Russians set fire to Moscow during the Napoleonic invasion.

In 1935, the Nazis enacted the Nuremberg laws, starting a program of violent religious and racial persecutions.

In 1938, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Berchtesgaden, Germany, to talk with Adolf Hitler.

In 1959, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Washington for a 13-day visit to the United States.

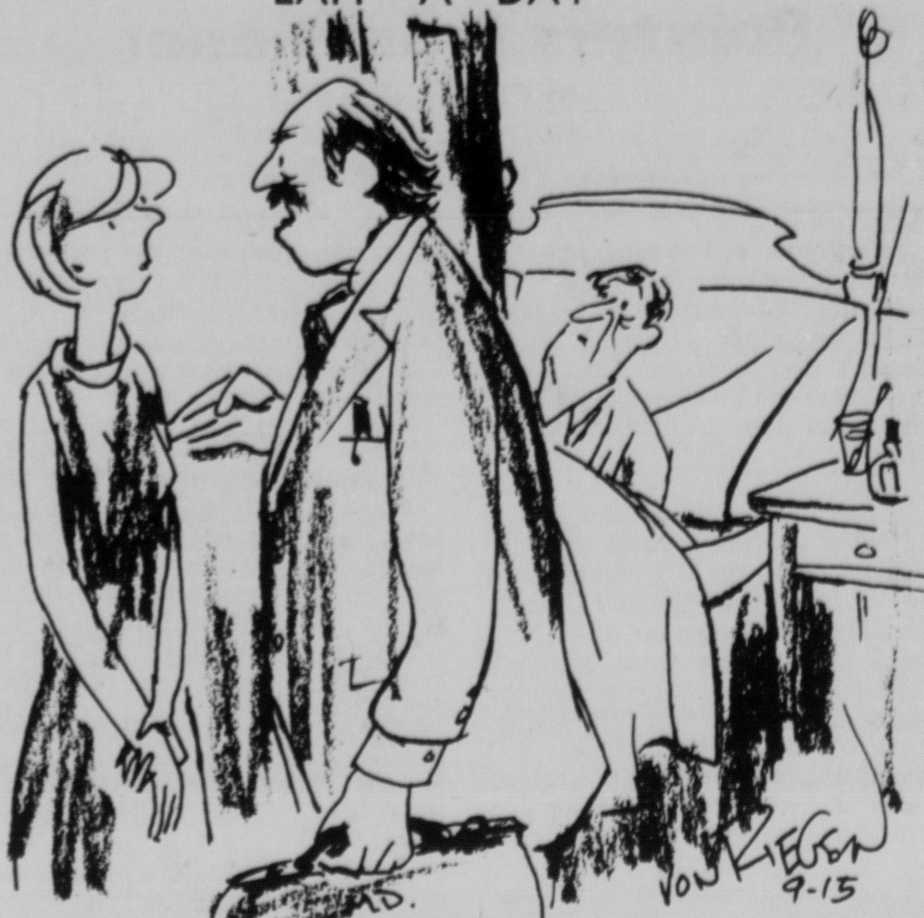

Ten years ago: A bomb exploded in a Negro church in Birmingham, Ala., during Sunday school services, killing four Negro girls and setting off sporadic rioting.

Five years ago: Frederic E. Davison became the third Negro general in U.S. history.

One year ago: Former White House aides G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt and five others were indicted on charges of conspiring to break into headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Hilde Guedon is 50. Singer and pianist Bobby Short is 49.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Far too often, teeth are sacrificed in childhood and in young adolescents. The result is that neighboring teeth shift from their rightful normal positions and often become devitalized.

A new and intriguing technique is being used at the University of Southern California School of Dentistry. A special type of vitreous carbon is poured into the empty socket. Then a false tooth is implanted into this specially devised material.

This type of tooth transplant has been used with excellent results. It already has shown to have advantages over some of the metallic implants that previously were tried.

The ideal dental program would be to preserve teeth as long as conceivably possible. When there is no alternative, this new type of restoration and implantation of teeth may be of extreme importance in the eventual adult dental structure.

It is sometimes difficult to determine if there are varicose veins deep within the muscles of the leg. Sometimes a clot or thrombus may be present without giving gross evidence.

Dr. Gerald Duffy and his colleague, J. A. Mehigan, are using a new radioisotope test at St. Vincent's Hospital in Dublin, Ireland.

This experimental test seems to have some advantages over the phlebography method which is used extensively at present. It is hoped that this new test will add considerably to the more rapid diagnosis of disturbances of the veins of the lower legs.

Anyone who has had the displeasure of swallowing barium before an X-ray of the stomach will be grateful to Dr. Rubem Pochaczewsky of the City Hospital Center in Elmhurst, N. Y.

The doctor has devised a simple carbonated tating that converts the ordinary flat-tasting barium into one that is both delicious and functional. Barium converted into a bubbly cocktail seems to have an additional advantage. The air serves as an excellent contrast for better visualization of the interior of the stomach.

Now that's a kind, thoughtful contribution. There must be a sense of pride for such ingenuity.

A new and exciting drug is now being tried for the control of asthma. Dr. Mayer B. Marks at the University of Miami School of Medicine in Florida has been using cromolyn sodium for the prevention of attacks of asthma in patients known to suffer from this condition. Unlike other drugs this one is used to prevent an attack rather than to control one that has already begun. The drug is being studied for safety and, it is hoped, will soon be released for general use everywhere.

Richardson Fiasco

By JEFFREY HART

WASHINGTON — On August 8, Attorney General Elliot Richardson vowed to take the Justice Department "out of politics." In a recent interview he asserted that his highest priority is to "re-establish confidence." Yet in his brief tenure, the Justice Department has become more embroiled in politics than ever before and Richardson himself has opened up a huge personal credibility gap.

For the past few weeks the Maryland investigation of Vice President Agnew has been leaking like a sieve, and Richardson's own office has obviously been the source of numerous leaks. After issuing lame denials to the effect that he does not have "any firm basis for the assumption that the information that has appeared in the press has come from law enforcement officials," Richardson finally acknowledged that leaks had come from the Justice Department.

White House staffers laughed his first statement off contemptuously. All Richardson had to do, remarked one, was to take a look at Time, Newsweek, and the Washington Post.

The August 20 Newsweek quoted "one of Richardson's aides" as saying that the letter sent by U.S. Attorney George Beall to the Vice President in itself meant that the evidence against Agnew is very strong.

The August 27 Time directly quoted "a Justice official in Washington" to the effect that "strong" evidence implicates Agnew in assorted crimes. Time went on to quote other Justice Department officials, including one who said: "Agnew wasn't greedy; he was quite cheap."

The New York Times on August 13 quoted "law enforcement sources" on the details of a private conversation between Richardson and Agnew. On August 22, the Washington Post referred to the "dash meeting with reporters" held by Prosecutor Beall in Baltimore. All of this is wildly unethical in a case which has yet even to be presented to a grand jury.

And these are only a few typical examples. If they did not provide Richardson with a "firm basis" for the assumption that his own department was knifing Agnew by way of the press, it is difficult to imagine what it would have taken to arouse his suspicions. As a matter of fact, the situation at Justice is only one example of a problem endemic to the Nixon Administration. Throughout the Federal bureaucracy, a few Republican appointees at the top reside over agencies largely staffed by Democrats who freely use the "leak" technique to damage the Administration.

Adding a touch of gallows humor to the situation is Richardson's directive that Justice Department personnel make all outside contacts a matter of record—with the single exception of contacts with reporters. Commented one White House aide: "It figures."

Far from taking the Justice Department out of politics, moreover, Richardson has merely changed its politics. He has liberalized it. Thus J. Stanley Pottinger, known as "Mr. Quotas," has moved over from HEW to the important post of Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights. This is bad news for the Middle-American Nixon voter. What Richardson is creating at the Justice Department is a hard liberal enclave dedicated to initiative sharply at odds with Nixon's 1972 mandate.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Are bankers contriving to steal business from stock brokers?

A growing number of securities people, including the head of the New York Stock Exchange, think so. Their complaints are getting louder and a nasty conflict seems inevitable.

The instrument of the banks' involvement is the so-called automatic investment service or automatic investment plan that permits customers to buy stocks directly from the bank.

Investors are offered a choice of 25 blue chip stocks that can be accumulated automatically through monthly deductions from the bank account. The sums range from about $25 to as much as $500.

The bank then can lump together all the purchases and obtain a volume commission when it buys the stocks. In addition to the small commission, the customer pays a monthly service charge of about 5 per cent.

Such plans are in keeping with the long-range goal of commercial banks to promote themselves as the super-markets of financial services. You may have noticed their slogans: one-stop banking, full-service bank, etc.

The brokers maintain that the plans do a disservice to them — and probably to customers too.

James Needham, chairman of the New York Exchange, complained this week to the comptroller of the currency that the banks might be violating the Glass-Seagall Act.

This act restricts the selling and distribution of securities by banks, limiting such activities to mere accommodation of customers. Most people, including some bankers, didn't know banks could buy or sell at all.

The right always was there, but the banks never advertised it. Then brokers began turning away small customers, and some bankers began musing over how to accommodate them.

Needham said in his letter to Comptroller James Smith, "To our knowledge, no effort is being made by the banks to counsel these persons on their investment needs, nor is any inquiry made as to whether they should be purchasing the listed stocks promoted under the plan."

The Investment Company Institute, spokesman for the mutual fund industry, also has complained to bank regulators. Like brokers, many mutual fund promoters have been doing poorly of late, both for themselves and customers.

There is another intriguing possibility that has brokers worried. Those 25 blue chips stocks are generally the same ones that the banks keep in their trust departments.

Is it conceivable that bankers might be able to buy and sell stocks within the bank — "crossing" orders from their own supplies — thus never paying commissions at all?

In the view of many brokers, this would be the most unpardonable offense of all. It is where any broker would make his stand.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing this in regard to the Circleville Herald carriers.

My son has had his paper route for only about two weeks and already I understand why people can't keep a carrier. Don't they realize that when they don't pay for their papers the carriers have to?

Last week we had a legal holiday for which there were no papers. Most people seem to think they don't have to pay the same rate. My son and the rest of the carriers have to so why do they think they are any different. If they would stop to figure it up, they would know that they are still getting off cheap. Because when they take it from the carrier its only 10 cents a copy and any place else its 15 cents a copy.

What gets me the most is the business places that give these carriers a hard way to go. They don't want to pay because they didn't get a paper (on the holiday.)

These carriers get out in all kinds of weather and traffic to deliver these papers. Most of these carriers are lucky to make from six to 10 dollars a week and if you don't pay them, they don't make that.

My son has only made a little over a dollar this week because he paid his bill but most of the people haven't paid theirs.

Would you take on the responsibility passing papers trying to collect the money and putting up with all kinds of criticism every week for that amount of money? You bet your life you wouldn't! So why should the carriers?

These carriers have more responsibilities than anyone knows. So stand behind them instead of kicking and you will benefit as well as they. After all, most of them are just kids!

Circleville Chapter OES Honors Masons At Meeting

Masons were honored when Circleville Chapter 90, Order of the Eastern Star, met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple. Worthy matron, Kathryn Thomerson, welcomed all present following the summer vacation and paid a special tribute to all Masons. The tribute was concluded with a humorous reading by worthy patron, Clarence Radcliffe.

Honored guests included General Grand Chapter committee member, chairman of registration and past grand matron, Marie L. Hamilton; past matrons, Beverly Currence, Marcylyn Evans, Elaine Bowman, Margaret Shane, Mary Radcliffe; past patron, Clarence Radcliffe and honored Mason, Joseph Peters.

Invitations were received to attend Grand Visitations and Receptions at Highland Chapter 350, Utica, on Sept. 17th; Vinton Chapter 375, Vinton on Sept. 20th; Wahnetta Chapter 235, Pataskala, on Sept. 25th; Woodbine Chapter 61, Pemberville, on Oct. 8th; Chillicothe Chapter 419, Chillicothe, on Nov. 17th; and invitations to 75th Anniversary celebrations of White Shield Chapter 97, Pleasantville, on Oct. 3rd; Ashland Chapter 92, Ashland, on Oct. 12th and Waverly Chapter 99, Waverly, on Oct. 13th.

A special invitation was received from Sterling Chapter 74, Mt. Sterling, to attend its meeting on Sept. 18th honoring all chaplains and marshalls, and Friendship Night meeting on Oct. 16th.

Members were urged to make reservations to attend the 84 Annual Session of the Grand Chapter of Ohio in the Cleveland Public Auditorium on Oct. 23rd, 24th and 25th. On Sunday afternoon preceding the Annual Session, the Vesper Service will be held in the Old Stone Church on the Public Square. Recipients of ESTARL awards will take part in this service. Two ESTARL awards have been made this year in our district and Circleville Chapter was commended for their interest and support of this program.

A memorial service was held and the chapter's charter was draped for 30 days in memory of Mae Tolbert, who was a fifty year member and in 1917 served as Deputy Matron.

Following the close of chapter, a social hour was enjoyed in the dining room. Refreshments were served by Joan Pettit, Mary Lou Partee, Jewel Hinton and their committee.

Preceding the next regular meeting on Sept. 25th, a covered dish dinner will be held for members and their families beginning at 6 p.m. A special program under the direction of Elaine Bowman will be presented following this meeting.

Women's Fellowship To Decorate Window For Pumpkin Show

Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Doyle Cupp, 1231 S. Pickaway St.

Bea Dowden welcomed the new pastor's wife, Mrs. Marion (Joyce) Nansel and made welcome others that have been absent from recent meetings. Prayer was followed by singing "Send The Light" and devotions given by Grace Strawser.

It was agreed to decorate a store window for Pumpkin Show. Serving on the committee will be: Bea Dowden, Joanne Boyer, Joyce Nansel, Barbara Donahue, Phyllis Walters and Julia Puckett.

Secret sister names were revealed and a drawing made for sisters for the coming year.

For the program Bea Dowden conducted games with prizes awarded to Virginia Cupp, Alice Dean and Aritta McNeal.

Mrs. McNeal closed the meeting with prayer and refreshments were served by Frances Cupp and Phyllis Walters.

The next fellowship meeting will be Oct. 9th in the church basement.

Busy Bees Club Social Meeting Held In Barr Home

American Indians Program Topic For Esther Circle

Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Bennett, 551 N. Pickaway St.

Mrs. Frances Pitt presided over the business meeting. She announced the circle will assist in serving the Appreciation Dinner for the education personnel of the church and Sunday School on Sept. 26th.

Mrs. Pitt read two poems, "God" and "Let Us Give Thanks" concluding the business meeting.

Mrs. Roger Murray presented the program during which she stressed the concern we all must have for the American Indian. She told about the Navaho Tribe at Flagstaff Indian Reservation and the work the missionaries are doing there.

She read letters she and Mr. Murray had received from people there. The Sioux Indians at Rosebud, S. D., had corresponded and told of their many trials and the help missionaries had given them. She closed the program saying we should give the Indians the message of Christ. A discussion period was held.

Refreshments were served to 19 members by Mrs. Bennett assisted by Mrs. Eva Heffelfinger.

The next meeting, on Oct. 10th, will be at the home of Mrs. Ray Cundiff, 534 Garden Parkway.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT E. OESTERLE

Miss Randi Ellen Grambo Bride Of Robert Oesterle

The marriage of Miss Randi Ellen Grambo and Mr. Robert E. Oesterle took place 2:30 p.m., Aug. 11th, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Grambo, Route 3, Circleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oesterle, Route 1, Williamsport.

The Rev. Lawrence Martindale officiated the double ring ceremony. The home was decorated with baskets of yellow daisies, pink roses and white gladioli. Hanging baskets held yellow, white and pink daisies, and the stair railing was adorned with greenery and colored bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a formal length gown of chantilly lace with cascading scalloped ruffles on the skirt flowing softly into a cathedral train. Pearls enhanced the scalloped sabrina neckline and long sleeves ending in bridal points over her hands. The bride wore a sheer white picture hat and carried a cascade arrangement of white star flowers, yellow daisies, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Matron of honor, Mrs. James Steele, wore a gown of flowered dotted swiss with a yellow picture hat. She carried a basket of white and yellow daisies. Miss Lisa Grambo, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid dressed as the honor attendant and carrying matching flowers.

Performing the duties of best man was Mr. William Oesterle, brother of the bridegroom. Mr. Edward Hunsicker was groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of navy blue and white with white accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a street length dress of melon and white polyester. Corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

A reception at the home immediately followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake was topped with white wedding bells. Hostesses were Miss Cheryl Dick, an aunt of the bride from Columbus and Miss Janet Schleich of Williamsport.

As the couple left for a wedding trip to northern Ohio the bride wore a yellow polyester pant suit and a corsage of white daisies. The couple now resides on Route 1, Williamsport.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Westfall High School and is employed at Oesterle's Inc. The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Westfall High School and is self-employed.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, West Jefferson, Orient, Williamsport and Kingston, Ohio; Tucson, Ariz. and Roland Heights, Calif.

Junior Women Plan Projects For Coming Year

The September meeting of Circleville Junior Women's Club was held in the home of Mrs. Ronald Lundberg, 339 Meadow Lane, with Mrs. John Farthing presiding.

Guests introduced were: Mrs. Jerrell Anderson, Mrs. Leo Hall, Mrs. Robert Jenkins, Mrs. James McLeod, Mrs. William Meyers, Mrs. Robert Parker, Mrs. Archie Ward and Mrs. Richard Wilder.

Club members voted to continue with the bowling program for Brooks-Yates School students from November through March. During the months of September and October, the club will finance admission fees of the students at the Chillicothe YMCA swimming pool for one session a week.

These projects are a part of the club's efforts toward the General Federation of Women's Clubs Junior project: National Assn. of Retarded Children.

Mrs. Andre Keller and Mrs. Keith Thomerson are making plans for a sale of articles made by the blind to be held during the October meeting. Anyone wishing to order or purchase items may call 474-7500 or 474-8929.

Members will again have a pumpkin pie booth during Pumpkin Show located at the southeast corner and Court and Main Sts. The club's 1973 booth rules were read by the chairman, Mrs. Ken Sherman. Any member who has not signed up is asked to contact Mrs. Sherman at 474-8085.

An election was held for the office of treasurer with Mrs. Ronald Kay selected to fill the post.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. Oct. 4th in the home of Mrs. Kay, Dunkle Road.

BLOOD COLLECTION — One of the key programs of the American Red Cross is its blood program. Pickaway County's participating in the program guarantees the total blood needs of all residents. The Red Cross is an agency of the Community Fund.

Local Red Cross Is Agency Of Community Fund

The Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross is one of the Community Fund agencies. The Red Cross will receive $31,500 of the total $86,350 goal set by the Community Fund this year.

Pickaway County residents are part of the Columbus Regional Blood Program, which covers 23 counties in Central Ohio, supplying 50 hospitals.

Pickaway County's participation in the Red Cross Blood Program guarantees the total blood needs of all residents of the County. Coverage also includes spouse, dependent children, parents, grandparents, parents-in-law and grandparents-in-law. This means that no charge is ever made for the blood itself — the only charge is for administration.

Total coverage is effective, however, only so long as the program is supported by the community by maintaining 90 per cent more of the quota. These quotas are determined on the basis of population and blood usage during the previous year. Each year approximately 1,000 pints of blood are used by Pickaway County residents and their families.

During 1973, the Bloodmobile is scheduled to come to Circleville 12 times. Average pints received the first nine visits were: 122. Our quota for each visit is 135 pints.

Through its Blood Program, the American Red Cross is the largest collector, processor and distributor of blood from voluntary donors. It

Milk Production Likely To Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk production in 1973 is expected to drop about three per cent from last year, to about 117 billion pounds, approximately what dairy farmers produced in 1970, the Agriculture Department says.

"Sharply increased feed prices are reducing output per cow, and together with high slaughter-cow prices, are encouraging a sharper decline in milk-cow numbers," the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Thursday.

The estimate of reduced milk production comes as no surprise to dairy farmers who have seen feed costs rise phenomenally in the past year. In August, the department said the average cost of 100 pounds of dairy-cow ration was $6.06 compared with $3.49 a year earlier, a 74 per cent increase.

Meanwhile, the department said in a report Tuesday, prices paid farmers for milk averaged $6.88 per hundredweight, a record high but still only 15 per cent higher than a year ago.

Milk production has risen steadily since 1969 as the relationship between milk prices and feed costs produced good profits for dairy farmers. But spiralling feed costs now have sent those gains in a tailspin.

"Cash receipts from dairying this year may total $7.8 billion, up from $7.2 billion in 1972," the report said.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

A high pressure system moving eastward from Missouri is expected to bring fair to partly cloudy skies to Ohio tonight and Sunday with little change in temperatures.

The overnight lows will be in the upper 40s to low 50s and Sunday's highs will be in the upper 60s and low 70s.

The National Weather Service says looking ahead, below normal temperatures can be expected Monday to Wednesday with a chance of showers Monday or Tuesday.

Patches of fog were reported across the State Friday night and early Saturday in some valleys and temperatures ranged from 44 at Toledo to 61 at Chesapeake along the Ohio River.

Phone Firm Complains

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — General Telephone Co. of Ohio complained to the National Labor Relations Board here Friday about contract negotiations with the Communications Workers of America.

The company filed papers with the federal agency which said the union reneged on a handshake agreement to end a strike by 2,800 employees which began July 16.

General Telephone officials said the agreement reached last weekend in the presence of a federal mediator should be binding.

Early this week, a union leader said a "last minute hitch" put off settlement of the strike.

Company officials said later that the international union refused to accept the agreement reached.

Ohio To Seek Cash For Crime Control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will seek nearly $30 million in Omnibus Crime Control Act funds for 1974 from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Judge John Corrigan of Cleveland, chairman of the Governor's Criminal Justice Supervisory Committee, said Friday $25 million would be used for improving Ohio's courts, law enforcement and correctional agencies. The remainder would be spent on minority requirement, corrections and other areas, he said.

"However, production costs, particularly feed costs, are rising even faster."

The USDA could not estimate how profits from dairying this year might stack up with 1972, only that "obviously there will be a drop" from last year.

Some adjustments in government price supports for milk have been made, including an increase of 80 per cent of parity for the support of manufacturing grade milk as ordered by Congress in the new farm law.

Recently, USDA announced a temporary boost for the remainder of September in the minimum rates dealers must pay farmers in federal milk marketing orders.

In most cases, however, the two actions have not affected actual prices dairy farmers get since the market price already is higher than the floors established by the government.

The National Farmers Union, among others, has called for the price support rate to be raised to the maximum of 90 per cent of parity under the law and that the administration should restrict imports of dairy products to reduce competition for U.S. producers.

Vikings Conquer Tigers In Thriller, 15-14

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Steve Williams split the uprights with a field goal from the 22-yard line late in the fourth quarter to give Teays Valley a 15-14 victory over the Circleville Tigers Friday night on the Vikings' turf before a standing-room-only crowd.

Williams' kick put the cap on the scoring in a game that had the crowd limp and exhausted at the finish.

Chuck Glitt tallied on a 3-yard run and hit Steve Williams with a seven-yard pass to account for the Viking touchdowns.

Circleville's scores came on a 72-yard touchdown run by Eddy Richter with an intercepted pass and a 67-yard pass play from Perry Hoskins to Rick Sampson. Phil Roll kicked both conversions.

But it was the Vikings who dominated the game and controlled the football to gain the win. Teays Valley not only won the game but took care of most of the statistics in doing it.

The Blue and Gold picked up 18 first downs, eight rushing, nine passing and one by penalty, while the Tigers had two rushing, one passing and one by penalty.

Teays Valley rolled up 168 yards on the ground and went to the air for 130 more for a total of 298.

Circleville gained 65 yards on the ground and 90 through the air lanes for a total of 155.

"The key to the win was the way we controlled the football and made the big fourth down plays," Teays Valley coach Dick Kidwell commented. "Our kids stuck in there and came up with the big offensive and defensive plays when we needed them."

Kidwell singled out the fine running of Mike Pettibone from his fullback slot and the poise of quarterback Chuck Glitt under the pressure of the pass rush put on by the Tigers.

The Viking coaching staff had high praise for the defensive work of Steve Gray, Brad Black, Bill Hurley, Lance Henson and Keith Pettibone who continually stifled the offensive efforts of Circleville.

Pettibone, playing with an injured arm, gained 96 yards behind the blocking of Hurley and Keith Pettibone on the Viking trap play.

But despite the big difference in the offensive statistics, the Tigers managed to hang in there on the two electrifying runs of Richter and Sampson.

"I want to congratulate Teays Valley on a fine ball game," Circleville coach Larry Cook said. "They showed that they wanted the game more than we did and they deserved to win."

"We couldn't come with decent field position in the second half and we lost our poise when we had to have it," Cook continued. "Now it becomes a challenge to see if our kids have the quality to bounce back after this setback," Cook stated.

Richter, the tough Tiger tailback, carried the brunt of the attack as he picked up 53 of the total yards gained on the ground by Circleville.

The defense of the Tigers was led by Scott Bowman, Keith Davis, Reggie Radcliff and Pat McNaughton.

Teays Valley took the opening kickoff and began to set the pace of the game as they moved from their own 26 to the Tiger 43-yard stripe in seven plays with Glitt's passing and Lambert's running moving the ball.

But on the next play, Circleville's Mike Speakman picked off a Glitt aerial and the Tigers had the ball on the Vikings 45 yard line.

Richter battered and bashed his way through the Vikings to give the Tigers a first down on the 15. However, the staunch Viking defense rose to the challenge and refused to budge. Phil Roll's field goal attempt sailed to the right of the uprights and the Vikings took over on their own 20.

With Mike Pettibone and Lambert hauling the freight, Teays Valley moved deep into Circleville territory.

Suddenly the tide turned and Richter grabbed a stray aerial by Glitt and was off and running for 72 yards and the first score of the game. Roll's kick split the uprights and the Tigers were on top 7-0 with 20 seconds left in the first quarter.

Both teams played their next two series near midfield without doing any damage.

With 4:29 left in the half the Vikings once again took over the ball on their own 37. This time they got the job done.

Mike Pettibone and Lambert began to rip into the center of the Circleville defense. Then Glitt began a fine job of scrambling as he looked down field for receivers. He found what he was looking for and connected with Lambert and Williams on several key pass plays and the Vikings rolled to a first down on the Tiger three-yard marker.

Glitt rolled to his right on the next play and turned the corner into paydirt. A pass attempt on the conversion was no good and the Tigers held a narrow 7-6 lead with 19 seconds remaining in the half.

Circleville mishandled the second half kickoff and ended up with the ball on its own six-yard line.

Failing to get anything going the Tigers were forced to punt and the Vikings had possession on the Circleville 35.

This time the Vikings were not to be denied. With Henson and Mike Pettibone blasting into the Tiger defense, Teays Valley moved to a first down on the Red and Black nine.

Two plays later, Glitt found Williams open in the middle and laid the ball in his hands for six points. Again the Vikings were thwarted on the extra point attempt as the Tigers came alive and smothered the ball carrier.

Now the Vikings were on top, 12-7, with 5:52 left in the third period.

The rest of the quarter was pretty much of a stalemate and the Vikings held their lead going into the final period.

Circleville regained possession with 11:22 remaining on the clock in the final stanza.

But now it was time for the Tigers fans to come alive. On the second play, Hoskins dropped back and hit Sampson on the right sideline with an aerial. The speedy Tiger turned on the afterburner and outran everyone for 67 yards and a Tiger touchdown. Roll kicked the conversion and Circleville was out in front, 14-12, with 10:37 to go.

However, the Vikings had ideas of their own and started to move from their own 32. Glitt connected with Henson and Lambert on Key aerials and Mike Pettibone again ate up yardage up the middle on several trap plays to move into Tiger territory.

With fourth and three on the Circleville 34 the Vikings went for the first down. The Tigers stopped the ball carrier but fate frowned on them as the ball was fumbled forward into the arms of a Viking and it was first down for Teays Valley on the Circleville 30.

The Tigers held. But on fourth and nine, Glitt found Lambert over the middle on a scrambling pass and the Vikings had a first down on the Tiger 14.

Now the Tiger defense got stubborn and the Vikings had a fourth and four on the Circleville eight.

Teays Valley called on Williams and he calmly split the uprights to put the Vikings out in front, 15-14, with 3:18 showing on the clock.

The Tigers refused to play dead and returned the kickoff to mid-field. Richter began to kick his way into the Viking defense and the Tigers moved to the Viking 26.

Hoskins connected with John Ankrom on the left side and the Tiger end raced into the endzone. But an offside penalty against the Tigers nullified the score and the ball was brought back.

The Viking defense held and the Tigers turned over the football with 41 seconds remaining. Teays Valley killed the clock and it was all over. But everyone there realized they had seen one whole of a ball game between a couple of fine football teams.

Braves Blanked By Millersport

The Logan Elm Braves couldn't penetrate Millersport defense in their first appearance in the Mid State League Friday, losing to the visiting Lakers, 22-0.

Logan Elm had only three first downs, two by rushing and one by penalty, gained only two yards through the air, a pass from Steve Sargent to Jeff Reichelderfer, and only 49 yards on the ground.

Dan Ramey was the leading ball carrier for Logan Elm, picking up 26 yards in eight carries.

Millersport scored in the first quarter on a two-yard plunge by Eric Alexander, at the opening of second half on an 86-yard kick off return, again by Alexander, on a safety in the third quarter and an eight-yard run by Alexander in the fourth quarter.

The big Laker fullback, a 6-foot-3 205 pound senior ran in the style of Ohio State fullback Champ Henson, over and through the opposition.

He gained 81 yards in the game in addition to figuring in most of the scoring. However, the leading groundgainer for the Lakers was

With about four minutes to go in the third quarter, Logan Elm held the Lakers at the four-yard line. But on the Braves' first try with the ball Kremer broke through the LE forward wall to tackle Wayne Linthicum in the end zone for the two pointer.

Millersport scored again with 1:30 to go in the game. The touchdown drive began on the Logan Elm 43-yard line and was capped by Alexander's eight-yard plunge. Zimmerman's kick was good.

Two Logan Elm players were injured, Steve Rawlins and Steve Sargent, both head injuries. Wayne Linthicum sustained a leg cramp early in the second half and did not see much action. Sophomore quarterback Bob Sargent filled in for his brother as signal caller during the fourth quarter.

Logan Elm now has a 0-2 record, is 0-1 in the MID State and faces Canal Winchester on the road next Friday.

Mistakes, Injuries Hurt Aces

Amanda-Clearcreek lost to Fairfield Union, 7-6, in Mid State League action Friday, a loss attributed to "green mistakes" by Ace Coach Jim Flanagan.

The Aces played a fine game according to their coach but were hampered by mistakes and the loss of two players, senior captain Rod Brobst and sophomore end Jim Smith, both starters.

It was a true defensive battle all the way. Fairfield Union's Winegardner halfback Kurt Kremer with 100 yards.

Steve Zimmerman gained 38 yards for the Lakers and it was his punting that kept the Braves deep in their own territory most of the night. He also converted two of three extra point tries.

Zimmerman set up the first touchdown for the Lakers by booming a 46-yard punt to the Logan Elm two early in the game.

The Braves could not get moving and were forced to punt on the fourth down from their own 20. The kick went only to the 30-yard stripe, and from there the visitors scored in six plays. Zimmerman's try for the extra point after Alexander's touchdown gave Millersport a 7-0 lead with four minutes to go in the first quarter.

The rest of the first half was played on Logan Elm's end of the playing field. In fact, the Braves were never able to penetrate into Laker territory during the entire game.

Logan Elm kicker Wes King booted the opening kickoff of the second half to Alexander at the Millersport 14-yard stripe.

Alexandar headed for the right sideline and rambled the length of the field, bowling over would be Logan Elm tacklers on his touchdown jaunt. The kick for the extra points was wide of its mark.

Preseason Tilts Costly To Bengals

DENVER (AP) — Paul Brown might have termed his 4-2 pre-season campaign a success had it not been so costly.

"The bottom has fallen out," the Cincinnati Bengal Coach says. "It's not encouraging heading into the season opener with so many injuries. It's hampered our work."

The Bengals climaxed their exhibition season with a 13-10 triumph over Green Bay last week, their third straight victory of the pre-season.

Six Bengal players, however, begin the regular season with injuries Sunday when Cincinnati meets the Denver Broncos at Mile High Stadium, and two of the wounded are serious.

Backup quarterback Virgil Carter is lost for the season with a broken collarbone sustained in the Packer game. Wide receiver Charlie Joiner is out indefinitely with a knee injury.

Twice-retired Greg Cook, who hasn't played in a game in three years, has been activated as backup to quarterback Ken Anderson. "Cook is not what he used to be as a passer," Brown admitted, but Cook knows the system better than recently acquired Tim Van Galder, who's now listed as the No. 3 quarterback.

Pro Sports Blackouts Are Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Football fans in eight cities will be able to watch their home pro teams on television Sunday under a new law lifting TV blackouts on sold-out home pro games.

President Nixon, one of the nation's best-known football buffs, signed the anti-blackout legislation Friday, about 24 hours after it had won final approval by Congress.

The bill-signing may have been a bit anticlimatic, since National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle had issued an order the day before lifting the blackout for Sunday's 1973 NFL season openers.

Rozelle said he lifted the ban because it had become clear the bill was going to pass, even though he still opposed the measure.

There are 12 NFL games this Sunday and eight of them are sold out and will be shown on local television. They are Houston and the Giants in New York, Dallas at Chicago, Detroit at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Kansas City, Oakland at Minnesota, St. Louis at Philadelphia Cincinnati at Denver, and San Diego at Washington.

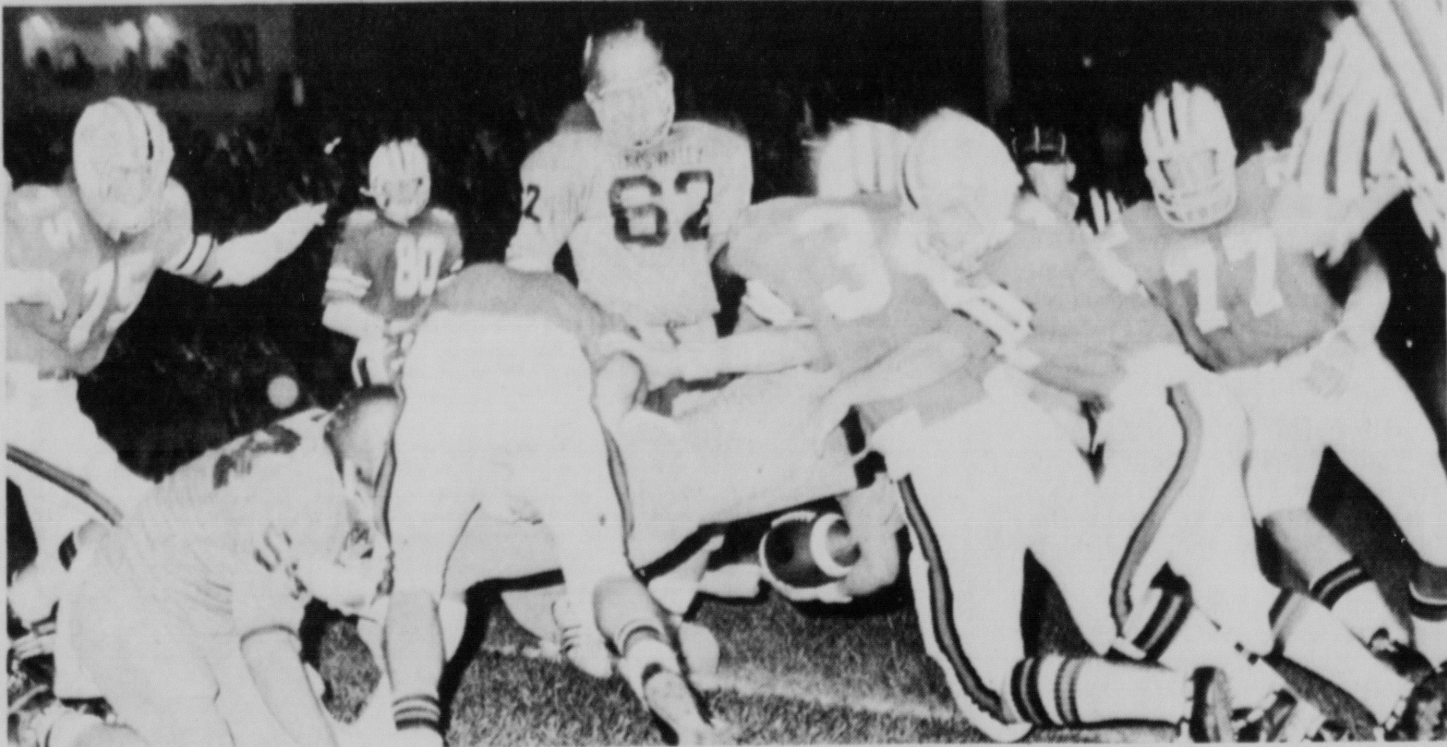

The measure applies for three years—although it can be renewed by Congress after the three-year period is up.

It also applies to pro basketball, baseball and hockey.

Local Quarter Horse Wins At Beulah Park

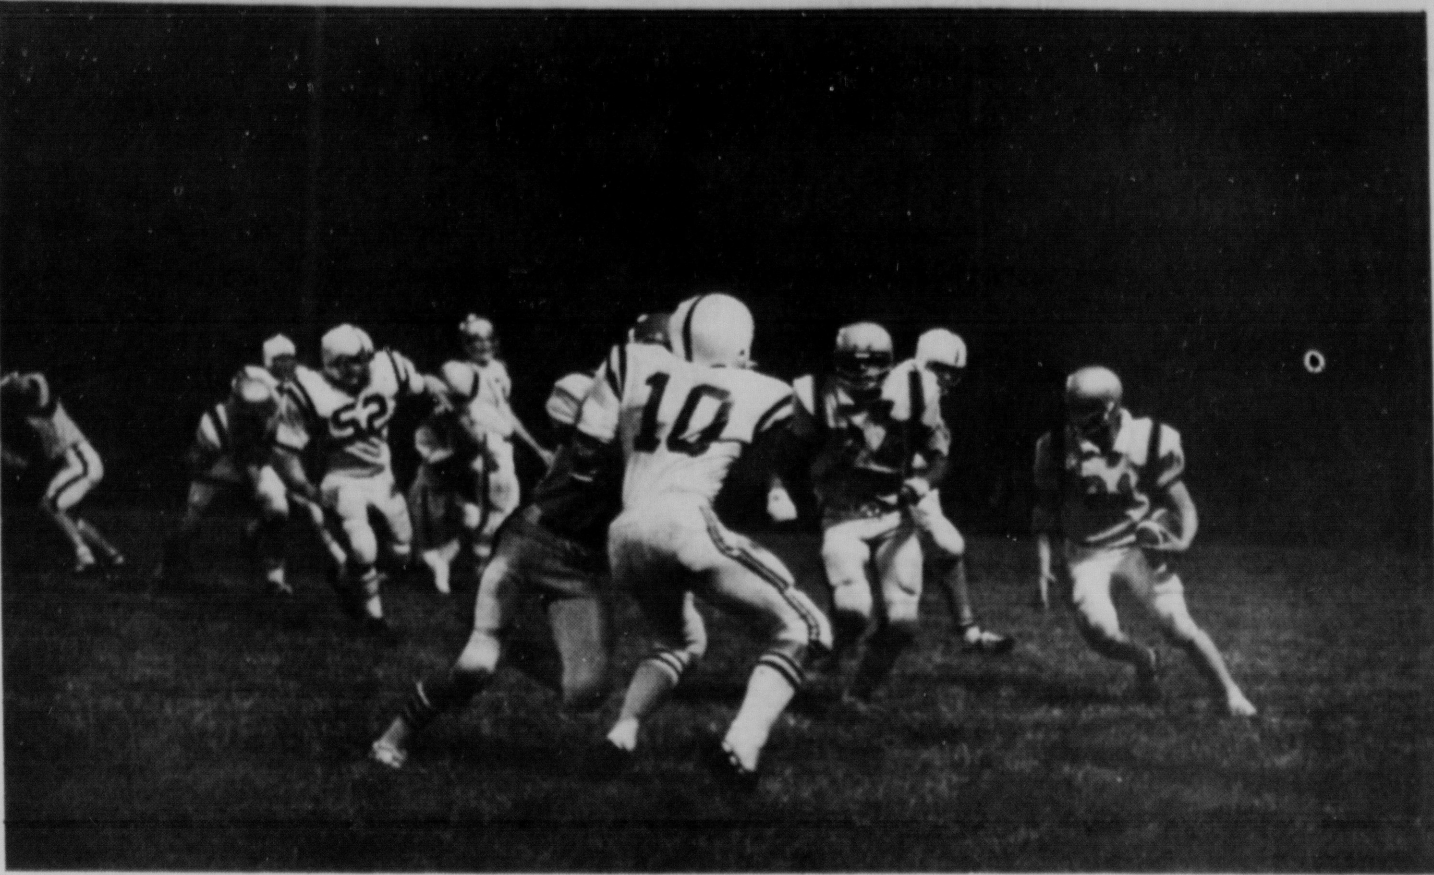

Dial's Muchacha, a quarter horse owned and trained by Bob Beckman, Route 2, Ashville, won the first race at Beulah Park Friday.

Ridden by Monte Pratt, Dial's Muchacha dashed 350 yards in 18.65 seconds, paying $36.20, $19 in 18.65 the mutual windows. It was Pratt's first career win.

Westfall Mustangs clipped the Golden Eagles of Madison Plains, 16-14, in a penalty filled game on the Eagles turf.

Both teams were evenly matched in statistics with Westfall leading 300 in total yards rushing and Madison Plains 297. Madison Plains completed six passes for 41 yards while Westfall completed two for 30 yards.

Westfall booted the opening kickoff to start the game rolling.

Getting into a fourth down situation, Madison Plains punted to Westfall but the Mustangs punted back to the Eagles.

Westfall scored the first touchdown with 28 seconds left in the first quarter, on a pitch from Dave Shannon to Gary Thompson, who then passed the ball to Randy Hildenbrand, for the six points.

Joe Angles made the two point conversion to bring the score to 8-0 in favor of the Mustangs at the end of the quarter.

The Eagles began the second quarter with the ball on their own 45-yard line, only to have to punt.

Changing hands again Madison Plains fumbled the ball and Westfall recovered just to punt back to Madison Plains where they began to sparkle in the game.

In spite of a 15-yard penalty and a

Recommend Lower Hockey Draft Age

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League will recommend to the governing bodies of major amateur hockey groups of Canada and the United States that the age when players can be drafted be lowered from 20 to 18, NHL President Clarence Campbell said Friday.

The board of governors of the NHL met in executive session here to discuss among other things the future of the pool of juniors the NHL taps in its annual draft.

Quarterback Mike Boryla of Stanford is the son of former basketball star Vince Boryla of Denver.

fourth down situation, the Eagles scored on a hand off from Jeff Terry to Rick Forrest who lateraled the ball to Thom Barker. Barker carried the ball into the endzone.

The extra point kick failed leaving the Eagles trailing 8-6 at half-time.

The third and fourth quarters were plagued with offsetting 15-yard penalties. Westfall was assessed 145 yards and the Eagles 160 yards for a total of 305 yards in penalties, during the entire game.

Getting penalties out of the way, the Eagles came back to score a touchdown with 4:10 left in the game.

Quarterback Jeff Terry fumbled the ball but the alertness of Barry Gallagher was shown as he picked up the pigskin to carry it in for the score.

The quarterback sneak, for the two extra points, placed the Eagles in the lead for the first time, 14-8.

Madison Plains kicked to Westfall with Gary Thompson grabbing the ball on the seven yard line, fumbling it but quickly recovering he raced 93 yards for a Mustang touchdown to tie the game.

Artie Dick ran the ball in for two extra points putting the Mustangs back on top 16-14 with 3:53 left in the game.

The last three minutes did not contain much action as again penalties highlighted the game. Next Friday the Mustangs host Adena.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day and evening to plan your future on very practical levels and to make a budget that is more suitable to your current needs and requirements. Your intuitive perceptions of a down-to-earth nature are very accurate, and if you are still for a little while, you get the right answers. Make residence more attractive

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) You are thinking in a very practical fashion now, even where the spiritual is concerned, which is good. Sit down and figure out your debts and possible collections while you have the free time. Handle them wisely tomorrow

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) A day and evening for doing just what you please, so schedule your time and activities well in a m Get in touch with those you want to see or talk to on the phone. Get the right results via courtesy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Meditation will reveal to you meaning in those things you do not now understand, then you can guide your life more intelligently. Show devotion to close ties. Television can be very rewarding now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact good friends who have your interests at heart and vice versa and make this a happy and profitable day and p.m. Show your importance at social gatherings. Do not sit on the sidelines.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) Getting together with the influential as much as possible now is wise. Gain their goodwill, trust. Take some part in whatever is of a philanthropic nature. Show you are a humanitarian.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept. 22) Sitting down with persons of much wisdom and intellect proves most profitable now and you come to a fine understanding. Gain much from their background, experience. Early to bed tonight.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct. 22) Make use of your intuitive hunches in a most constructive way and you get ahead faster. Loved one looks with favor upon you, so make the most of this, also. Do some reading that can be broadening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Sitting down with a most dynamic associate quietly today can bring fine results for the future. You have an opportunity to get into civic work that can be most profitable. Avoid one who is unfriendly to your best interests

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a chance to do some important things today that make the future brighter. Some new health methods can prove very beneficial. Try to be more thoughtful of those at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This can be a most happy day and evening for you provided you first attend services or meditate and then be with worthwhile persons. Find the right outlets for creative ideas. Keep temper under control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Showing more thoughtfulness for those who live with you is wise so there is more harmony there. Entertain important members of your community. Show you are a fine host, hostess.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able to contact those who can help you advance more quickly in the future and talk ideas out. Attend the lectures, etc., that will renew your spirit, make you feel happier. Have many friends in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will want to mull over things too long, so it would be well to give right diet and sports to tone up the system so the mind works faster, then decisions will be reached more quickly. Otherwise your child could very well miss the bus in life. A fine chart for the banker, the real estate operator, or whatever has to do with property and management.

Aussies Short Of Cattle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An indication that a world-wide beef shortage exists is provided in a report that beef production in Australia, the leading exporter of meat to the United States, declined in July.

The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that imports of Australian beef in July were only 52.0 million pounds compared with 58.7 million in July last year.

The report showed the cumulative total of Australian beef imports through July this year was down 3 per cent from the first seven months of 1972.

Other supplying countries, however, increased their supply which resulted in a 5 per cent boost during the January-July period last year.

About 18 months ago President Nixon suspended meat import quotas to allow more low quality beef to enter the country in hopes that larger supplies would mean lower consumer prices. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz estimated then that imports of quota-type meat would be about 1.450 billion pounds this year.

MR. CLARENCE E. HEETER
Mr. Clarence E. Heeter, 79, Garfield Place, Cincinnati, died unexpectedly Thursday near his home.

Born Oct. 28, 1894 in Jackson Twp., Pickaway County, he was the son of Peter and Anna Wilson Heeter.

He was a retired steward for the Pennsylvania Railroad. At one time he was a waiter and bartender for Billy Pickens' Palace Restaurant in Circleville.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Wanda Heeter; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Morrison, North Port, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Jack (Betty) Mogan, S. Sisto St.; two brothers, Avery (Bill) Heeter, 611 Court St. and Glen (Jack) Heeter, 611 Guilford Road; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A private funeral service will be held 10 a.m. Tuesday at Karlovitz Mortuary in Fremont.

ANGELA SUE SEYMOUR
Angela Sue Seymour, 2½ months, died 12:44 a.m. Saturday in Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Born June 29, 1973 in Circleville, she was the daughter of Walter and Sue A. Large Seymour, 380 Crites Road.

Other survivors are one brother Carl, of the home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Seymour, Crites Road; maternal grandparents, Mrs. Betty Large, California and Carl Large, 1252 Norfolk Ave.; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Russell, Crites Road.

The funeral service will be 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at Defenbaugh-Wise-McCain Funeral Home with the Rev. Alonzo Hill officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Sunday.

Youths Lose Licenses

A variety of cases were heard in the Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week. Among these were traffic offenders who lost their licenses.

Rocky E. S. Conley, 16, Route 3, Mt. Sterling was sentenced to pay $50 fine and court costs and had his license suspended for three months for operating a motor vehicle without a valid license. Judge Guy Cline suspended $40 of the fine. The youth had been arrested by the Sheriff's deputy Bill Huffman.

Failure to turn in a license for suspension brought another suspension to James S. Hall, Route 1, Orient. Hall's license had been suspended for 30 days with privilege to drive to work on a conviction Aug. 29, for fictitious tags. When the lad failed to relinquish his license, the court ordered them suspended indefinitely.

A seventeen-year-old Circleville boy was ordered into the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission for using a false identification card.

Pickaway's County Children's Services ordered emergency care for the seven month child of David and Wanda Lacy.

Mattie Bahsam, Route 3, appeared in juvenile court on charges of contributing to the unruliness of a minor. She was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 with $400 suspended, received a six month suspended jail sentence and was placed on probation for a period of three years.

In final action, the court ordered Richard Brink, 327 N. Scioto St. to pay support and rearing to Connie Coleman on bastardy charges.

Tires Cut By Culprits

Ralph Sounik, Columbus, reported culprits did damage to his auto parked on State Route 104 just ½ mile south of Route 22 sometime between 3:45 p.m. and 8:10 p.m. Friday.

According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown, the right front and rear tires were cut and fender skirt removed from the car which was left under the car. The culprits also did damage to the valve stems.

Damage to the auto was estimated at $50.

Democratic Party Telethon Aims At Campaign Chest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic party tests its post-Watergate financial pull tonight with a nationwide telethon to pay off the party's debts and raise funds for 1974 elections.

There is little doubt regarding the Democrats' thrust. The leadoff speaker is Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate committee investigating the Watergate affair.

"We expect Watergate to cause greater donations than ever before," says John Y. Brown Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Telethon.

"The whole Watergate scandal proved the need to support political parties by a broad base of small donations," he said. "If such a system had been in effect, Watergate never would have happened."

Brown, who made his fortune popularizing a fried-chicken chain, was the instigator of last year's Democratic telethon. The event raised $4 million from 400,000 donors, he said. This time he's hoping for $6 million, because of Watergate and better organization.

Proposal For Tax Surcharge Dies In Hail Of Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ten per cent income tax surcharge is not under active consideration by the Nixon administration despite a White House official's suggestion to the contrary, the top aide to Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says.

Furthermore, deputy Secretary William E. Simon said it is "not relevant" to suggest that Shultz will be leaving his post because of the highly publicized differences over taxes with President Nixon's chief domestic adviser, Melvin R. Laird.

While Shultz was away in Tokyo attending a trade meeting, Laird held a news conference Thursday to say that the surcharge is under consideration by the administration as a way to cool inflation.

The proposal would call for the taxes to be refunded after inflation abated

Fast Food Rival Robs Competitor

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The manager of a fast food restaurant was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of robbing an agent for a rival chain Labor Day in which $3,000 was taken.

Clinton Jackson, 38, of Covington, Ky., manager of the Famous Recipe Fried Chicken restaurant in the Avondale section was charged with armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.

Police said a gunman took the money from Lottie Maye, 19, an employee of a nearby Frisch's Restaurant as she drove into a bank parking lot to deposit receipts.

Quake Hits California

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake has struck five central California counties, shaking buildings and rattling windows.

Residents of Fresno, Tulare, Mono, Inyo and Kern counties felt the shock, which occurred shortly after 6 p.m. Friday and lasted two to four seconds.

No injuries or damage were reported immediately.

The California State Warning System indicated the quake's center was located 40 to 50 miles south of Fresno and registered 4.3 on the Richter scale, according to Fresno County sheriff's deputies.

In Richter measurements, an earthquake of 7.0 is 10 times more severe than one of 6.0, which in turn is 10 times greater than one of 5.0. A 4.3 quake can cause damage.

Blame Fireworks For Fatal Blast

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, Ky. (AP) — Federal authorities said an explosion that killed two men here Friday was apparently caused by homemade fireworks.

Killed were Bernard Jones, 31, Covington, and Robert Phirman, 51. Firemen said the blast occurred in a shed in Phirman's back yard. He was arrested July 4 on a charge of selling fireworks, police said.

Metropolitan Toronto has more than 10,000 acres of parkland.

Unlike last year when all of the proceeds went to the national party, half of the donations will remain in the individual states.

"There are events being held in all 50 states," said a Democratic spokesman. "Some are statewide dinners, some are $1 dinners, some are TV viewing parties."

"In Maryland, Pimlico racetrack has been taken over, with the betting booths taking pledges. In Dayton, Ohio, the telethon is being shown on a big screen in a theater. All 88 counties in Ohio are having events. More money has been collected in Alabama before the telethon than during last year's event," the spokesman said.

Titled "America Goes Public," the telethon will be broadcast over NBC television from 7 p.m. to 2 a.m. EDT. Major figures of the Democratic party will appear with such entertainers as Milton Berle, the Fifth Dimension, Henry Fonda, James Garner, Jack Lemmon, Florence Henderson, Robert Goulet, Carl Reiner, Dick Van Dyke and Nancy Wilson.

and the economy slowed down. It is commonly known as a compulsory savings plan.

Shultz, after Simon telephoned Laird's remarks to him, criticized the proposal and suggested that Laird should "keep his cotton-pickin' hands off economic policy."

"Like every subject, there are differences of opinion," Simon said in an interview. But he said the President feels that the American people pay enough taxes and he responded with a flat "no" when asked if the proposal is under serious consideration.

"Was it a trial balloon?"

"I don't think so," Simon replied. He said that the administration is flexible on economic proposals and that various proposals are under constant discussion.

He repeated Shultz's objection to tax proposals, saying that by the time any tax bill passed Congress it would be too late to do any good, and would only encourage increased government spending.

Insulation Causes Fire At PPG

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown responded to a fire alarm at Pittsburgh Plate Glass on Route 23 11:30 p.m. Friday.

The fire, found to be in a kettle in the number seven area, caught insulation of a pipe on fire.

PPG fire crew and Pickaway Township Fire Department quickly doused the fire.

No estimate of damage was determined.

Floyd Woolever was the supervisor on duty at the time of the incident. No injuries were reported.

Man Robs Branch Of Marion Bank

MARION, Ohio (AP) — A man robbed a branch of the National City Bank of Marion of an undetermined amount of cash Friday, police said.

A bank official said the man told a teller he had a gun and demanded money. The teller gave him a cash drawer full of money and the man walked out of the bank through a side door.

SOUNDESIGN DELUXE 2 SPEAKER SYSTEM FOR COMPONENT SYSTEMS

This model, incorporating applied science and rigid construction makes available to listeners advances found only in the most sophisticated speaker system. The cabinet is somewhat unconventional in that, rather than being completely enclosed, it has a cellular horn bass duct vented enclosure. Bass reflex cabinets are seldom used in bookshelf speaker systems, but in the case of an unusually efficient speaker system such as this it is the best technique for maintaining effectiveness down into the low bass range without rolloff.

VIKING RESISTANCE—Circleville's Pat McNaughton 34 is met head-on by Mike Reed 65 of Teays Valley as Lance Henson 31 moves in to add defensive support. The Vikings went on to win the contest, 15-14, on a fourth quarter field goal by Steve Williams. Teays Valley also won the battle of statistics, rolling up a total of 298 yards to Circleville's 155.

Cuban Watergate Defendants Ask For New Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four Cuban-born Watergate burglars say they were deceived into pleading guilty to protect what they thought were national security operations and have asked for a new trial.

In a petition filed Friday with U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, the four asked to change their guilty pleas to innocent and requested a jury trial.

Arrested inside Democratic National Committee headquarters, June 17, 1972, the four pleaded guilty on Jan. 15, during the second week of their trial and have been awaiting final sentencing by Sirica. Pending review, he had sentenced them provisionally to the maximum terms of 55 years in prison and fines of $50,000 on charges of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping.

The four, all of whom had been living in Miami, are Bernard L. Barker, Frank A. Sturgis, Virgilio R. Gonzalez and Eugenio R. Martinez. They are imprisoned at the federal penitentiary, Danbury, Conn.

Their petition said the guilty pleas were "false and involuntarily entered under the force and compulsion of a belief that the necessity to protect national security interests precluded them from asserting the defenses they had to the charges against them."

"The pleas were premised on false assumptions which had been fostered on them by others, including co-defendant E. Howard Hunt Jr. and, ultimately, high officials in the executive branch of the government," their motion said.

On Jan. 15, the four fired their original lawyer, Henry B. Rothblatt, who would not let them plead guilty. The court assigned a lawyer for the guilty pleas and the four men later hired attorney Daniel Schultz, who filed Friday's motion.

Before accepting the guilty pleas, Sirica closely questioned each man about whether any promises had been made to induce the plea or whether anyone threatened or coerced them into it.

To each question, the men answered no.

Hunt had pleaded guilty a few days earlier. The other two defendants, G. Gordon Liddy and James W. McCord Jr., stood trial and were convicted by a jury. Liddy has appealed his conviction.

Reds Encircle Cambodia Villages

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Communist-led insurgents today encircled two government villages across the Mekong River northeast of Phnom Penh, according to Cambodian navy officers.

The officers said the insurgents had surrounded the provincial capital of Vihear Suor, 13 miles from Phnom Penh, and Kroch Souch village, four miles from the capital. They said the government was sending reinforcements by boat up the river.

More than 100 wounded government soldiers were awaiting evacuation from Vihear Suor, but heavy shelling prevented helicopters from picking up the wounded, the officers said.

An estimated 500 government troops were in Vihear Suor, and about two companies were reported in Kroch Souch.

At a daily briefing, the command also reported that insurgent sappers infiltrated the perimeter of Phnom Penh early today and set off explosives at a ferry crossing, wounding nine persons.

About 10 minutes later, police said, a terrorist hurled a hand grenade into a crowd at another ferry crossing and injured three persons.

Meanwhile, government troops were reported moving against Communist-led forces in the battle-scarred provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 47 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Col. Am Rong, the command's chief spokesman, said the troops were meeting heavy caliber fire from Khmer Rouge gunners entrenched in the northwest corner of the city, Cambodia's third largest.

A diplomatic source in Phnom Penh said the Khmer Rouge over the last few weeks have initiated an increasing number of skirmishes around the capital's perimeter because the government's attention was on the fighting in Kompong Cham.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon government reportedly has massed more than 3,000 troops near the central coast in anticipation of a renewed Communist push to isolate the country's five northern provinces.

The junta's minister of the interior, Gen. Oscar Bonilla, told a news conference on Friday that Allende permitted "10,000 foreign extremists to enter our country," including Mexicans, Cubans, Hondurans, Argentines and Uruguayan Tupamaros.

Bonilla also said the nation eventually would be returned to constitutional government but did not elaborate.

Allende's widow said in Santiago early today that she would accept an offer of political asylum from Mexico

113,000 Auto Workers Strike At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler production of 1974 cars and trucks halted today when 113,000 United Auto Workers union members struck United States and Canadian plants after time ran out on contract talks.

Bargainers from both sides insisted the strike was not triggered by any single issue.

The strike left Chrysler with just 122,000 of its new cars and trucks ready for sale while assembly lines kept rolling at its two major competitors, General Motors and Ford.

"It suddenly was the 14th of September and we were a long way from home," UAW President Leonard Woodcock said Friday night almost an hour before the 11:59 p.m. strike deadline.

The strike against Chrysler Corp., the nation's fifth largest manufacturer and No. 3 in the domestic auto industry, closed 56 auto plants in 21 states and Canada.

But 14,200 union members at Chrysler kept working, 11,000 of them white collar workers the UAW decided to keep on the job since they were not involved in auto production. The other 3,200 are at plants in Kokomo, Ind., and Van Wert and Fostoria, Ohio which produce parts for other automakers.

A last-minute company request that the current contract be extended was rejected. Woodcock had said repeatedly there would be no extension unless there was an agreement in principle.

The strike is the first against Chrysler since 1950, when the union closed company plants for 104 days. That strike, the auto industry's second longest, obtained company paid pensions for UAW members.

The current strike against Chrysler hits the Detroit area hardest because 93,500 of the firm's workers live in the city or its suburbs. Initial union strike benefits total $30 to $40 weekly.

While working, union members earn an average of $5.12 per hour during the first 40 hours of each week.

Excited workers leaving the Mack Avenue stamping plant in Detroit after the strike was called Friday night

Work Ills Now Called 'Epidemic'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A strange crippling disease affecting employees of the Columbus Coated Fabrics plant was described by a state doctor Friday as one of the biggest "epidemics of this kind of occupational illness."

Dr. Donald Billmaier of the Health Department's Occupational Health Division said the nerve illness, which hits the extremities of the body, had been diagnosed as "peripheral neuropathy."

So far, 28 employees, most of whom work in the plant's print department, have been affected by the disorder. Billmaier said most of the cases were "mild to moderate." Doctors don't know if the crippling effects are permanent.

Billmaier said cause of the illness has not been determined, but doctors suspect it is a solvent being used in the print department.

He said another 40 employees, including 20 who work in other departments, were to undergo tests.

Meanwhile, print department employees who belong to Local 487 of the Textile Workers of America were to decide at a membership meeting today whether to return to their jobs.

Jury To Ponder Agnew Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson will let a federal grand jury consider material from an investigation of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew but still has not decided to seek an indictment, sources close to the case report.

The sources said Friday night that Richardson has decided only that it is appropriate for the grand jurors in Baltimore to consider information about Agnew gathered so far in an investigation of alleged kickbacks by contractors and architects to Maryland politicians.

The sources said there was no indication when the continuing investigation of Agnew would be completed. The vice president has described as lies allegations that he took kickbacks in return for awarding contracts while he was Baltimore County executive and subsequently governor of Maryland.

Earlier Friday, Dale Anderson, the first Maryland official indicted in the scandal, pleaded innocent in Baltimore to charges of bribery, extortion and conspiracy.

Meanwhile, in Washington, Justice Department spokesmen began saying "no comment" instead of their usual "no" when asked whether Richardson had made his decision to seek an indictment of Agnew.

The sources said the decision to let the grand jury see the results of the Agnew investigation apparently was behind the change in official comment.

In August Richardson had advised Agnew by letter that he would have an opportunity to meet with prosecutors before a final decision was made in his case. The sources said they were unaware of any such meeting or any contact between Richardson and Agnew.

Agnew's press aide, J. Marsh Thomson, said he did not know of any recent meetings between Agnew and Richardson. He also said he was unaware of any recent developments in the case.

slavery is over!" yelled auto worker John Warren as he left the gates.

Warren was referring to one of the union's key demands — that workers be allowed to decide if they will work overtime. Currently, overtime is mandatory.

Other key union demands still awaiting settlement include an unspecified wage increase, allowing workers to retire with full pension at any age after 30 years in the plants, boosting pensions from $500 to $650 per month, company-paid dental insurance and making plants safer.

Free Transit For Poor Being Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal transportation report urges free rides for the nation's nearly 2.7 million urban handicapped and elderly poor.

The recommendation came Friday in a Department of Transportation study, which said that cities receiving mass transit funds should be required to make their bus and rail lines more accessible to the handicapped and elderly.

The report was prepared jointly by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) and the Transportation Systems Center.

The Federal Aviation Administration also has announced it is investigating air transportation for the handicapped.

The FAA says there currently are no uniform rules on air transportation of the handicapped. It says it plans to determine what safety rules should be instituted.

UMTA says there are 13.4 million handicapped Americans who would experience difficulties in riding mass transit. It said about five million of them live in urban areas where more than eight per cent of the working people ride mass transit to their jobs. Another 5.5 million live in urban areas where less than eight per cent of the population rides transit facilities, it said.

The agency says elderly and handicapped persons have trouble using transit facilities because of such physical barriers as long stairs in terminals and high steps entering buses and rail transit facilities.

In addition there are operational barriers, such as acceleration-deceleration and frequency of service, the agency said.

"Most of the nation's transit systems — both rail and bus — are barrier-ridden (in terms of physical dimensions) and of limited use to the handicapped and elderly population," the report says.

Snow Covers Yellowstone

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow whitened sections of Montana and Wyoming today while many Eastern states remained soggy from heavy rains.

Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming was expected to accumulate 8 inches of snow by noon today and 4 inches already cover Lewistown, Mont.

Rivers were on the rise in Maryland after Washington, D.C., was drenched by nearly 4 inches of rain Friday.

The rainstorms swept from the Middle Atlantic states into southern New England.

Baseball-size hail pounded the Nebraska Panhandle in thunderstorms Friday night. But, in between the isolated storms, fair skies were widespread from the Pacific states to the eastern Great Lakes region.

Predawn temperatures ranged from 30 at Butte, Mont., to 88 at Needles, Calif.

School Children Lose Extra Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's school children will be drinking less milk at school this year because of a $75 million budget cutback in the federal milk program, figures released by the Agriculture Department show.

The figures project a decline of about 18 per cent in milk consumption. Assistant secretary Clayton Yeutter, who oversees the federal food programs, put the total at about 5.5 billion half-pints of milk for the 1973-74 school year.

The department's Food and Nutrition Service told reporters that 6.5 billion half-pints were served last year.

When the Nixon budget was announced last January, the department served notice that a popular "special" milk program costing about $100 million a year would be trimmed to $25 million beginning July 1.

The special program, supported strongly by milk lobbyists and Congressmen from dairy areas, had provided federal assistance to schools serving milk during snack breaks. The servings were in addition to milk provided with regular school lunches or breakfasts.

Presently, only children in schools without regular meal service are getting milk under the USDA program.

Shaving Of Legs Blocked By Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus barber shop's new service of shaving women's legs was ordered halted Friday by the state Board of Barber Examiners.

The agency notified barbers Wayne Bump and Denis Ashbaugh they were "not licensed to do anything except on the head, face or neck."

A spokesman for the board said the barbers had agreed to quit and there would be no penalty.

Chilean Junta Defends Necessity Of Coup

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The military junta says it took over Chile's government because Marxist President Salvador Allende had done nothing to stop thousands of extremists from infiltrating the country.

The claim was the junta's first major statement on the reasons for the bloody military revolt Tuesday that toppled the government and resulted in Allende's death.

Earlier, the junta had indicated that Allende had concentrated too much political and economic power in his hands.

The junta's minister of the interior, Gen. Oscar Bonilla, told a news conference on Friday that Allende permitted "10,000 foreign extremists to enter our country," including Mexicans, Cubans, Hondurans, Argentines and Uruguayan Tupamaros.

Bonilla also said the nation eventually would be returned to constitutional government but did not elaborate.

Allende's widow said in Santiago early today that she would accept an offer of political asylum from Mexico and then "tell the truth about the dictatorship" in Chile.

"I will tell how there is a military junta ruling the destinies of the country as a dictatorship without constitutional liberties. We don't know how many persons have been jailed, killed," she said in a telephone interview with a Mexican television network.

Meanwhile, the junta ordered a roundup of "Chilean and foreign extremists" and hundreds were reported arrested. Others sought asylum in embassies or fled the country.

The military regime said its forces were meeting only disorganized resistance from holdout supporters of Allende's government and could claim solid control of the country. Scattered shots continued to be heard in the capital Friday night, the quietest night since the coup occurred. The Chilean frontier remained closed, and news dispatches sent abroad continued to be censored.

There are no firm figures on the number of people killed in the fighting, but the death toll is estimated to have reached 1,000.

Retired Gen. Carlos Prats went on television to deny claims by Chilean exiles in Argentina that he had organized a resistance army in southern Chile. Prats said he has engaged in no public activity since he resigned as army commander and minister of defense last month.

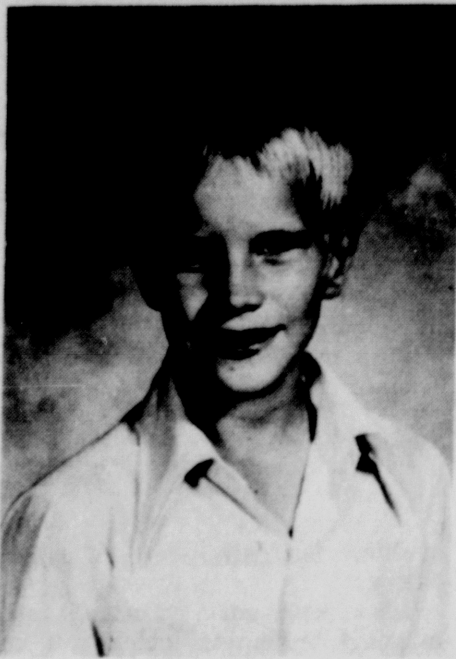

Thousands of Chileans took advantage of an 8½-hour break in the curfew Friday and strolled about the battlescarred capital. Many tried to buy food but found numerous shops still closed and others in short supply of goods.

A tour of the city showed gaping

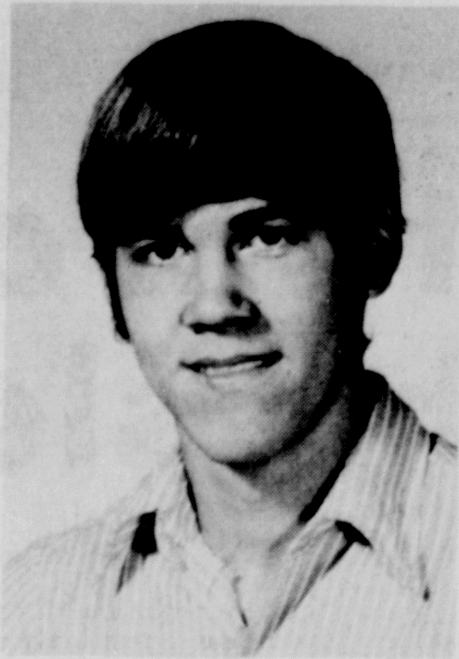

holes in office buildings and thousands of broken windows as a result of fighting since the coup. The presidential palace, where the junta said Allende committed suicide, was damaged heavily.

Mrs. Allende was quoted by a Mexican television newsmen as saying in a telephone interview Friday night, "I believe that he committed suicide with the machine gun presented to him by Fidel Castro.... He had told me before he would. He said he would never leave La Moneda (the palace) as president and that he preferred to commit suicide."

Ear Corn Harvesting Helps Drying, Storage Problems

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Harvesting ear corn and storing it in ear corn cribs (permanent or temporary type) may be a worthwhile practice this year for many farmers in Ohio, suggest Delbert M. Byg and William R. Schnug, Extension Agricultural Engineers at The Ohio State University.

With the uncertainties of fuels for crop drying and the risk that storage facilities for shelled corn may fill up quickly and be transported out slowly, ear corn storage is one easy way to hold corn on the farm and avoid the depressed market price at harvest time, the engineers add.

According to Schung, ear corn can be picked and stored at a grain moisture of about 30 per cent, provided no ear of corn is more than 2 feet from outside air. This means that cribs four to five feet wide, located in an open area with full exposure to prevailing winds, will satisfactorily store corn without forced air drying or heat. For wider cribs, air ducts can be provided as needed for natural air ventilation. Fan ventilation with unheated air is recommended for drying ear corn in larger volumes and - or in wider cribs.

According to Byg, there are still large numbers of ear corn picked in Ohio. Data from the 1969 census reveals that Ohio had 36,472 corn pickers as compared to 11,802 corn heads for combines on class one to five farms. In recent years, corn heads have outsold corn pickers by about two to one in Ohio, but corn pickers still constitute the greatest number of corn harvesting machines on hand. So, using your corn picker or renting one should not be difficult, Byg believes. There are also many ear corn storage structures standing idle on many Ohio

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Before you know it, those little scale insects sneak in and load up your azalea and rhododendron plants. So you better give them more than a casual glance as you walk by. The azalea bark scale may have the main twigs infested now with a slim like white thread. And, you'll probably notice a lot of sooty mold on the foliage, too. This is growing on the honeydew produced by the scales. You may be a little late to control azalea bark scale now. Sevin, malathion or Zectran applied in mid-June when the crawlers are present is the best time to get the control job done.

If there's a hackberry tree anywhere near you, no doubt you have been bothered by hackberry bugs.

You'll recognize the hackberry nipple gall by the little bump on the upper surface of hackberry leaves. Inside the little green cylinder-shaped gall is a little bug. It is called the hackberry psyllid. Very soon now the psyllids will leave their homes and make their presence known until the first frost.

These pests are small enough to pass through your screens, and on cool evenings you'll see them slinging by the hundreds on the window screens. If you have clothes hanging on an outside line, they'll be covered, too.

You could spray the trees with lindane or Sevin, but they are probably too large for home equipment. Next spring, in May, is a good time to spray for best results. On the screens, about all you can do is apply a residual spray or use an aerosol spray and knock them down periodically. If you hang on a while, they'll be gone after the first good frost.

If you have a few backyard fruit plants, now is no time to let up on the protection program. Apple maggots, codling moths, and grape berry-moth adults are emerging and can turn your fruit into culls, if final protection sprays are not applied. Be careful to observe harvest restrictions. Stop spraying two weeks before harvesting.

'Cotton Picker' Given Gloves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird received a pair of white gloves today as a joking gift from Secretary of the Treasury George Shultz, who advised him to "keep his cotton pickin' hands off economic policy."

Shultz made the comments in Tokyo after Laird held a White House news conference and reported that President Nixon was talking about the idea of some refundable income taxes.

Laird got the gloves from deputy Secretary of the Treasury William Simon.

farms. Owners might put them to good use this season by filling them with their own ear corn or renting them out for use by their neighbors.

More details on harvesting, drying, storing and marketing are available in Extension Bulletin 502, available at the County Extension Office. Plans for building ear corn storage are also available from the Extension engineers of the Agricultural Engineering Department at Ohio State.

Aerial Seeding Of Wheat Reduces Weather Hazard

By George Hamrick
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Last year's extremely rainy fall caused a number of farmers to consider aerial seeding of wheat, because soft ground made conventional seeding impossible. The increased acreage planned for wheat by Ohio farmers could make seeding wheat difficult again this fall if the weather should be adverse.

According to Gordon J. Ryder,

4-H On The Go

Prepared by Ruth Uland

The 4-H Junior Leadership Club will soon resume meeting at the 4-H Grange Building. "What or 'who' are 4-H Junior Leaders? They are older, more experienced 4-H'ers, fourteen or older. The Junior Leader's basic job is to encourage younger 4-H members to assume leadership responsibilities, help them with their projects, and to assist in carrying out the local and county 4-H programs.

The Junior Leaders work under the guidance of the local adult advisors and the County Extension Agents.

In addition, they must be willing to accept responsibility, get along with others, be willing to learn more about leadership, be cooperative and willing to share. All of this sounds like hard work but it is also fun and provides an opportunity to meet other young adults from all of the county schools.

Members will be notified by mail of the next meeting.

Extension Agronomist, and Marion E. Kroetz, Area Extension Agent, Agronomy, The Ohio State University, aerial seeding of wheat is less desirable than conventional methods in most cases. Still, they observe, it does offer a lot of advantages that growers should consider.

Farmers should consider aerial seeding when:

1. Wet soil makes timely seeding by conventional methods impossible.

2. Late-maturing soybeans or corn makes timely seeding by conventional methods impossible.

3. Labor is not available for timely seeding by conventional methods.

4. Equipment for conventional seeding is not available or cannot justify ownership of grain drill because of limited acreage.

Aerial seeding of wheat is fast, according to Ryder and Kroetz. Aerial applicators can seed 300 to 500 acres per day. The cost is about the same as the custom rate of seeding wheat with a grain drill. Aerial applications generally base their rate on both acres and numbers of bushels seeded.

Observations in Ohio indicate that aerial seeding of wheat has a high probability of success. However, no research has been done in this area.

To increase the chance of success with aerial seeding of wheat, Ryder and Kroetz suggest these guidelines (not necessarily in this order):

1. Increase seeding rates by 30 to 50 per cent or more, depending on conditions. Use higher rates with late planting and low-moisture situations. Recommended seeding rate with conventional methods is 90 to 120 pounds per acre.

2. If previous crop can be harvested and wheat can still be planted on time, disc or use field cultivator on stubble prior to seeding and use drag to cover seed immediately after seeding. Use this procedure when soil conditions and crop maturity permit.

3. Seed in soybeans instead of corn whenever possible.

4. If seeding in unharvested soybeans, seed just prior to leaf drop if this occurs after hessian-fly-free date. The leaves will provide a mulch for only a short period of time; therefore, timing of the seeding is critical.

5. If seeding in unharvested corn, seed after vigorous growth ceases.

6. Seed when soil moisture is high or low, not intermediate, when seeding in unharvested crops.

7. Seed at or near normal seeding time when possible. This would be from hessian fly-free date to October 15.

Airplanes can help growers get wheat planted on time when conditions prevent conventional seeding. It can also be the primary method of seeding in case of labor or machinery shortages, say Ryder and Kroetz.

I'm sorry to say this is the last time I'll get to talk to you through the newsletter. I'm returning to Ohio State University fulltime to study for a Master's degree. It has been a fun three years and I'll always cherish the friendships I've had in Pickaway County.

If you open a can of chili con carne and it looks like it has a lot of meat in it-it tastes like it, too—but some of that "meat" could be textured vegetable product ("TVP" for short.) You can tell if it is — or not—by the ingredient statement.

A description of TVP comes down to two easy words: versatile and nutritious. TVP can be processed so that it has the taste, look, and texture of meat. When used instead of cereals and other starch-based binders, TVP can increase the protein content of foods. The quality of the protein in nonsupplemented TVP is not as good as actual meat protein, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says. But, TVP costs considerably less than meat, too.

It is difficult to distinguish between TVP and meat in processed foods like chili con carne, meat stew, meat loaf, hash, spaghetti, and other kinds of meat sauces and gravy, so USDA has proposed new regulations which would require products whose appearance and taste are enhanced by TVP to carry names that tell the consumer.

Chili con carne, for example, must contain at least 40 percent meat under Federal Meat Inspection regulations. Under the proposal, chili con carne would still have to meet this requirement. A manufacturer meeting this requirement and adding more than 3 percent large-particle TVP to his formula would have to label his product "chil con carne with textured vegetable product." If he adds coloring to that TVP, he'd have to tell you that in the product name, too.

If he uses TVP particles, he could add them in any amount and still call his product "chili con carne." But—in either case—he would have to list the specific TVP ingredients in the ingredient statement on his labels.

ASCS Officials Explains New Farm Legislation

"The new farm bill contains provisions which will encourage farmers to produce more grains and other crops the marketplace demands," according to Paul Moore, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee.

Moore outlined the basic job of the farm program agency in carrying out the provisions of the new law, titled the

Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, and enumerated some of the new concepts in the 1973 bill. He also noted that the 1973 Act, signed into law by President Nixon August 10, replaces the Agricultural Act of 1970, which expires December 31, 1973.

Moore said, "Our job will be to execute the new bill's provisions in such a way as to encourage a level of agricultural production which will assure ample supplies of food and fiber for American consumers and for growing export sales opportunities. Under the provisions of the new law, farmers will have more freedom to use their resources in the way they feel will earn them the most income from the marketplace." He also pointed out that farmers' incomes will be protected through commodity loans which assist producers in marketing their crop in an orderly manner.

"Also adding income protection," Mr. Moore said, "is the new target price feature of the bill. The guaranteed price provision offers income assurance to farmers by triggering deficiency payments when market prices fall below the target levels. The guaranteed prices for 1974 and 1975 are $2.05-bushel for wheat and $1.38-bushel for corn. The 1976 and 1977 target prices will be adjusted to reflect changes in farm costs and yield levels.

"Another form of income assurance offered to farmers," Moore said, "will be payment to eligible producers prevented from planting or harvesting crops by natural disasters.

"The bill also authorizes the continuation of a program to offer cost-sharing assistance to farmers for conservation projects. This feature establishes long-term, permanent conservation practices under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program and the Water Bank Program.

"The new law provides that the total amount of payments a person may receive under one or more of the wheat, feed grain programs may not exceed $20,000."

Services and programs are made available by ASCS without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

Students Given Hearing Rights On Suspensions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A three-judge U.S. District Court panel here says public school students must be given hearings before they can be suspended.

Judge Joseph P. Kinneary, writing the opinion for the panel, said school administrators may not jeopardize a student's right to an education by ordering an expulsion or suspension without due process of law.

The court ruled on a suit filed on behalf of nine Columbus public school students suspended during student unrest in the winter and spring of 1971.

The Columbus Board of Education since has adopted a new regulation providing for a hearing before disciplinary action is taken.

Anniversary Tribute

DEAR ABBY: I shall never forget hearing you speak before the Independent Life Insurance Company's convention in New Orleans. When you read that beautiful tribute to your husband, which you published in your column on your 25th wedding anniversary, my ladies and gentlemen in your audience counted our blessings as you counted yours.

After your talk, I asked you how I could get a copy of that tribute, and you told me to write to you and you'd send it to me.

Instead of doing that, I'm asking you to please print it in your column again, so all your readers can read it, and have a copy, too. We loved you!

JEANNE GREGORY
JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DEAR JEANNE: Flattery will get you everywhere. Here it is:

"Today is a very special day for me. It's my 25th wedding anniversary, and I have this to say: I had a mother and father who really loved each other, so I know what love is.

I have worked hard to see two teenagers safely through their traumatic teens, so I know what satisfaction is.

I have prayed. And my prayers have been answered, so I know what faith is.

I have had by my side, the kindest, gentlest, most considerate human being I've ever known, so I know what happiness is.

And because I've known all these things... I know what wealth is."

MRS. MORTON PHILLIPS

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law, who is a widow, has two children, my husband and his sister. Mom travels a lot, and she always brings home souvenirs for my sister-in-law and me.

Here's the problem: mom always give my sister-in-law and me identical gifts, and consequently my home is full of the same objects as my sister-in-law's.

Mom is going on another trip soon, and I know she'll be shopping for gifts for us, and I hate the thought of getting another one of those "twin gifts."

Should I drop a hint before Mom leaves and hope she catches on? Or should I be quiet, and pretend I'm pleased when she gives me and my sister-in-law identical gifts again?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: The poor mother-in-law just can't win. In order to show no favoritism between her daughter and her daughter-in-law she buys you identical gifts, and what does she get? Complaints! Don't "hint" for something "different," because no matter what you get, you'll probably think your sister-in-law's is better.

DEAR ABBY: My 16-year-old son got his 15-year-old girl friend pregnant. My son and the girl's parents want me to give my consent for these two kids to marry. I just can't do it because I would feel like I was ruining three lives.

The kids are nowhere near mature enough for marriage, neither are they financially able to care for themselves, let alone a baby.

Do you know of anyone I can get to talk to the girl's parents? Abortion or adoption would be much better for everybody. Please help me.

CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS

DEAR CAN'T: Perhaps your clergyman can talk to the girl's parents. Your local Planned Parenthood also offers free counseling service. They will NOT try to persuade anyone who does not want an abortion to have one. They simply counsel, and will guide them in adoption procedures if that is their choice. Good luck.

$4.2 Million Local Government Funds Returned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said today more than $4.2 million in local government fund money for September has been returned to Ohio counties and the 318 municipalities having local income taxes.

Cuyahoga County led the list of counties receiving funds with $885,068.05. Cincinnati led the cities with $45,055.30.

The state auditor's office said the September total was $805,000 more than last month's figure.

The money is derived monthly. It represents 3.5 per cent of state collections of personal, corporation and sales taxes during the preceding month.

High School Course In Death Proves Popular With Students

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A visitor to Hug High School might well be surprised to overhear a pupil tell a pal, "I'll meet you after death."

No problem, it's the name of the school's newest course.

"Death is one of the most critical moments that we face," said Tom Summers, a high school teacher who thinks Americans have little knowledge of dying.

Summers, chairman of the school's English department, started a course on dying this semester because "ignoring preparation for it is ridiculous."

About 160 students signed up for five sections of thanatology, making it one of the school's most popular electives.

The first unit will deal with medical, legal and religious definitions of death, with lectures by doctors, lawyers and clergymen.

For the second unit, the classes will study the vocabulary of death, including euphemisms such as "passed away."

Other units will deal with funeral customs, wills and testaments, war and death, old age and suicide and the prose, poetry, drama and music associated with death.

The 48-year-old Summers, bearded with wire-rimmed glasses, sees the course as a means for students to gain knowledge about death "in a rational

The response to the course from students and national attention on books such as "Love Story" that deal openly with death are indications that the nation is starting "to come to grips with death," Summers said.

Judge Fines Self For Being Late

GRAY, Ga. (AP) — Superior Court Judge George L. Jackson has assessed himself a $25 fine for being late to a session of court.

Jackson was surprised Thursday when he entered his courtroom and found that the district attorney and a county grand jury had been waiting 15 minutes for him.

The judge said he thought the court session was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. instead of 9 a.m. and noted that he often had assessed fines against other people for being late.

"You're supposed to be there when court starts and I didn't have any excuse — none whatsoever," he said in fining himself.

Oysters In Season

Despite its sedentary habits, the oyster leads a perilous life, from spawning to harvest. The succulent mollusks are again in season. But the oysters found in stews, scalloped, pan-fried and fried dishes account for only a tiny minority of the enormous potential supply.

For every oyster that lives to maturity, a million or more are lost, the National Geographic Society says. Natural enemies gobble up the larvae as they swim about for a brief period of freedom before attaching themselves to some solid object at the bottom of a bay or estuary. After the "setting," predators get to the soft body behind its armor of shell.

Mussels may starve a whole oyster colony by growing over it and cutting off the food supply — the microscopic plant and animal organisms the oyster filters from the many gallons of sea water it pumps in and out of its shell each day.

Sharp temperature change may also kill the bivalves. Too much or too little salt in the water is a hazard. Polluted water may infect them or retard growth. Yet the prolific oyster has survived from the earliest times. That it has long provided food for man is proved by huge mounds of shells left near pre-historic settlements along European and American shores.

The Chinese cultivated pysters in the pre-Christian era, and the early Romans regarded them as a great delicacy. Today, scores of oyster species grow in natural or cultivated beds from China and Japan to northern Europe and South Africa.

The United States is by far the world's leading producer and consumer, though output has dropped sharply from the nineteenth century high mark — the result of over-harvesting, pests, pollution and wasteful operations.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Sept. 15th, the 258th day of 1973. There are 107 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, Konrad Adenauer became the first chancellor of West Germany.

On this date—

In 1777, the Polish aristocrat Count Casimir Pulaski was commissioned a major general in the American revolutionary army.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs changed its name to the Department of State.

In 1812, the Russians set fire to Moscow during the Napoleonic invasion.

In 1935, the Nazis enacted the Nuremberg laws, starting a program of violent religious and racial persecutions.

In 1938, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain flew to Berchtesgaden, Germany, to talk with Adolf Hitler.

In 1959, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in Washington for a 13-day visit to the United States.

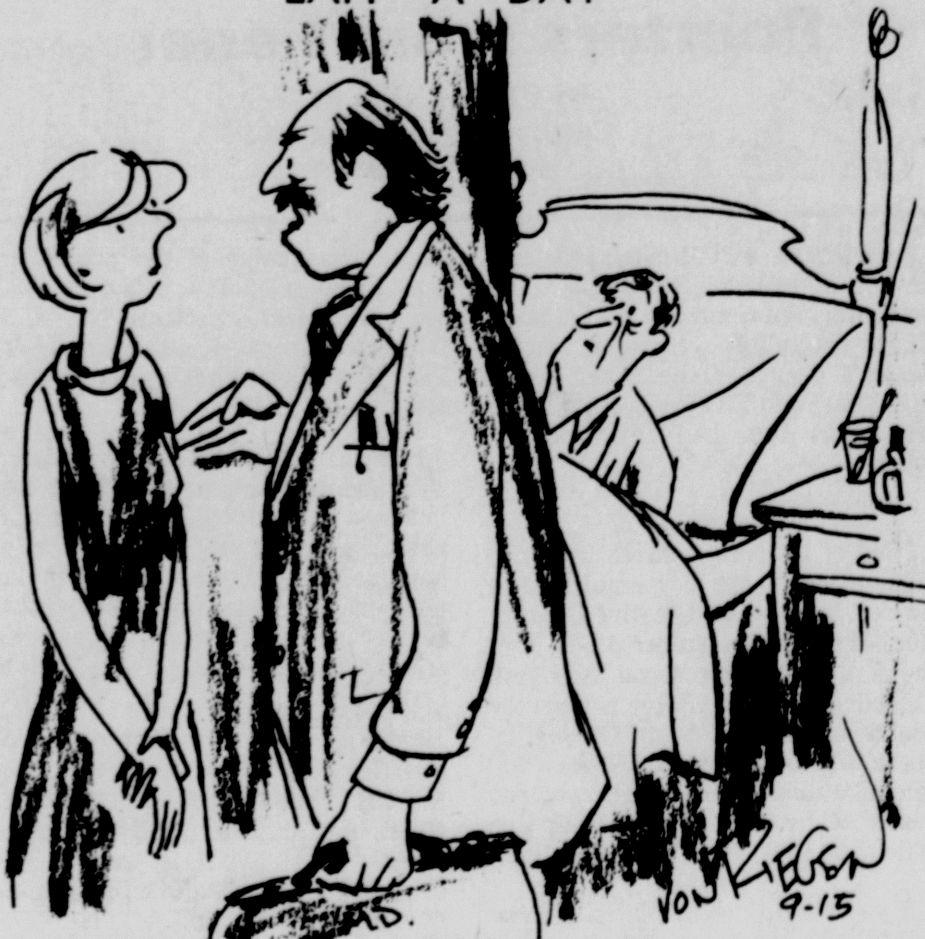

Ten years ago: A bomb exploded in a Negro church in Birmingham, Ala., during Sunday school services, killing four Negro girls and setting off sporadic rioting.

Five years ago: Frederic E. Davison became the third Negro general in U.S. history.

One year ago: Former White House aides G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt and five others were indicted on charges of conspiring to break into headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

Today's birthdays: Opera singer Hilde Guedon is 50. Singer and pianist Bobby Short is 49.

Thought for today: I have great faith in fools — self-confidence my friends call it — Edgar Allan Poe.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Far too often, teeth are sacrificed in childhood and in young adolescents. The result is that neighboring teeth shift from their rightful normal positions and often become devitalized.

A new and intriguing technique is being used at the University of Southern California School of Dentistry. A special type of vitreous carbon is poured into the empty socket. Then a false tooth is implanted into this specially devised material.

This type of tooth transplant has been used with excellent results. It already has shown to have advantages over some of the metallic implants that previously were tried.

The ideal dental program would be to preserve teeth as long as conceivably possible. When there is no alternative, this new type of restoration and implantation of teeth may be of extreme importance in the eventual adult dental structure.

extensively at present. It is hoped that this new test will add considerably to the more rapid diagnosis of disturbances of the veins of the lower legs.

Anyone who has had the displeasure of swallowing barium before an X-ray of the stomach will be grateful to Dr. Ruben Pochaczewsky of the City Hospital Center in Elmhurst, N. Y.

The doctor has devised a simple carbonated drink that converts the ordinary flat-tasting barium into one that is both delicious and functional. Barium converted into a bubbly cocktail seems to have an additional advantage. The air serves as an excellent contrast for better visualization of the interior of the stomach.

Now that's a kind, thoughtful contribution. There must be a sense of pride for such ingenuity.

A new and exciting drug is now being tried for the control of asthma. Dr. Mayer B. Marks at the University of Miami School of Medicine in Florida has been using cromolyn sodium for the prevention of attacks of asthma in patients known to suffer from this condition. Unlike other drugs this one is used to prevent an attack rather than to control one that has already begun. The drug is being studied for safety and, it is hoped, will soon be released for general use everywhere.

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a filter.

It sifts out much of the sadness of the past; it enhances the bright colors of our cheerful yesterdays and makes them dearer with each passing year.

We are fortunate indeed that memory has this filterlike quality for if it were like a klieg light or a microscope, the past would stand out too starkly and its buried events be emphasized too nakedly. Instead of helping us through life, memory might kill us with shame and regrets.

By and large, you've got a pretty good collection of memories if you can look back and remember when —

You could read the front page of a newspaper without feeling that the whole world was going to hell.

For $10,000 or less, you could buy the best house on most of the city blocks in America, and you could get a 25-year mortgage for 6 per cent interest.

Baseball really was the national pastime, and only rich people or freaks were interested in playing golf or tennis.

A congressman's mail consisted mostly of letters from constituents asking him to mail them free garden seeds, a prerogative he no longer enjoys.

In a large family, while grace was being said before meals, a wise child used this pause to glance at the meat platter to see which piece he'd try to get.

A man was regarded as reasonably successful if he died debt-free and left enough to pay for his funeral expenses.

Almost every American, young or old, knew what part of a cow's body gave milk and how many milk faucets she had. Do you know?

Because they were born free and owed no fealty to tyrant lords or creeds, Americans felt sure they were more than equal, man for man, to any other people on earth.

When a woman walked passed you, her undergarments made a mysterious rustling that was part of the feminine mystique. It was like the sound of a soft and friendly electricity made audible.

An only daughter was always called "Sis," and a boy named after his father was known as "Junior" or "Young Bob."

A man was valued more for his character than his cash.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing this in regard to the Circleville Herald carriers.

My son has had his paper route for only about two weeks and already I understand why people can't keep a carrier. Don't they realize that when they don't pay for their papers the carriers have to?

Last week we had a legal holiday for which there were no papers. Most people seem to think they don't have to pay the same rate. My son and the rest of the carriers have to so why do they think they are any different. If they would stop to figure it up, they would know that they are still getting off cheap. Because when they take it from the carrier its only 10 cents a copy and any place else its 15 cents a copy.

What gets me the most is the business places that give these carriers a hard way to go. They don't want to pay because they didn't get a paper (on the holiday.)

These carriers get out in all kinds of weather and traffic to deliver these papers. Most of these carriers are lucky to make from six to 10 dollars a week and if you don't pay them, they don't make that.

My son has only made a little over a dollar this week because he paid his bill but most of the people haven't paid theirs.

Would you take on the responsibility passing papers trying to collect the money and putting up with all kinds of criticism every week for that amount of money? You bet your life you wouldn't! So why should the carriers?

These carriers have more responsibilities than anyone knows. So stand behind them instead of kicking and you will benefit as well as they. After all, most of them are just kids!

Richardson Fiasco

By JEFFREY HART

WASHINGTON — On August 8, Attorney General Elliot Richardson vowed to take the Justice Department "out of politics." In a recent interview he asserted that his highest priority is to "re-establish confidence." Yet in his brief tenure, the Justice Department has become more embroiled in politics than ever before and Richardson himself has opened up a huge personal credibility gap.

For the past few weeks the Maryland investigation of Vice President Agnew has been leaking like a sieve, and Richardson's own office has obviously been the source of numerous leaks. After issuing lame denials to the effect that he does not have "any firm basis for the assumption that the information that has appeared in the press has come from law enforcement officials," Richardson finally acknowledged that leaks had come from the Justice Department.

White House staffers laughed his first statement off contemptuously. All Richardson had to do, remarked one, was to take a look at Time, Newsweek, and the Washington Post.

The August 20 Newsweek quoted "one of Richardson's aides" as saying that the letter sent by U.S. Attorney George Beall to the Vice President in itself meant that the evidence against Agnew is very strong.

The August 27 Time directly quoted "a Justice official in Washington" to the effect that "strong" evidence implicates Agnew in assorted crimes. Time went on to quote other Justice Department officials, including one who said: "Agnew wasn't greedy; he was quite cheap."

The New York Times on August 13 quoted "law enforcement sources" on the details of a private conversation between Richardson and Agnew. On August 22, the Washington Post referred to the "daily meeting with reporters" held by Prosecutor Beall in Baltimore. All of this is wildly unethical in a case which has yet even to be presented to a grand jury.

And these are only a few typical examples. If they did not provide Richardson with a "firm basis" for the assumption that his own department was knifing Agnew by way of the press, it is difficult to imagine what it would have taken to arouse his suspicions. As a matter of fact, the situation at Justice is only one example of a problem endemic to the Nixon Administration. Throughout the Federal bureaucracy, a few Republican appointees at the top reside over agencies largely staffed by Democrats who freely use the "leak" technique to damage the Administration.

Adding a touch of gallows humor to the situation is Richardson's directive that Justice Department personnel make all outside contacts a matter of record—with the single exception of contacts with reporters. Commented one White House aide: "It figures."

Far from taking the Justice Department out of politics, moreover, Richardson has merely changed its politics. He has liberalized it. Thus J. Stanley Pottinger, known as "Mr. Quotas," has moved over from HEW to the important post of Assistant Attorney General for Civil Rights. This is bad news for the Middle-American Nixon voter. What Richardson is creating at the Justice Department is a hard liberal enclave dedicated to initiative sharply at odds with Nixon's 1972 mandate.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Are bankers contriving to steal business from stock brokers?

A growing number of securities people, including the head of the New York Stock Exchange, think so. Their complaints are getting louder and a nasty conflict seems inevitable.

The instrument of the banks' involvement is the so-called automatic investment service or automatic investment plan that permits customers to buy stocks directly from the bank.

Investors are offered a choice of 25 blue chip stocks that can be accumulated automatically through monthly deductions from the bank account. The sums range from about $25 to as much as $500.

The bank then can lump together all the purchases and obtain a volume commission when it buys the stocks. In addition to the small commission, the customer pays a monthly service charge of about 5 per cent.

Such plans are in keeping with the long-range goal of commercial banks to promote themselves as the super-markets of financial services. You may have noticed their slogans: one-stop banking, fullservice bank, etc.

The brokers maintain that the plans do a disservice to them — and probably to customers too.

James Needham, chairman of the New York Exchange, complained this week to the comptroller of the currency that the banks might be violating the Glass-Seagall Act.

This act restricts the selling and distribution of securities by banks, limiting such activities to mere accommodation of customers. Most people, including some bankers, didn't know banks could buy or sell at all.

The right always was there, but the banks never advertised it. Then brokers began turning away small customers, and some bankers began musing over how to accommodate them.

Needham said in his letter to Comptroller James Smith, "To our knowledge, no effort is being made by the banks to counsel these persons on their investment needs, nor is any inquiry made as to whether they should be purchasing the listed stocks promoted under the plan."

The Investment Company Institute, spokesman for the mutual fund industry, also has complained to bank regulators. Like brokers, many mutual fund promoters have been doing poorly of late, both for themselves and customers.

There is another intriguing possibility that has brokers worried. Those 25 blue chips stocks are generally the same ones that the banks keep in their trust departments.

Is it conceivable that bankers might be able to buy and sell stocks within the bank — "crossing" orders from their own supplies — thus never paying commissions at all?

In the view of many brokers, this would be the most unpardonable offense of all. It is where any broker would make his stand.

Funds Freed To Improve Ohio Water

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state announced Friday it will distribute $2.5 million in federal revenue sharing funds to help improve drinking water supplies.

Gov. John J. Gilligan said the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency will provide $1.5 million to communities with substandard water systems.

The rest of the funds will be used to cover 11 open reservoirs and purchase lab equipment.

Communities with below standard water supply systems will be eligible for grants of up to $100,000 each if they apply before Oct. 15.

A total of $600,000 has been set aside to cover open reservoirs at East Liverpool, Lancaster, London, Martins Ferry, New Philadelphia, New Richmond, Salineville, Sebring, Toronto, Twin City and Warren, he said.

Another $300,000 will be used to buy analytical lab equipment, he said.

The cities of Akron, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Cuyahoga Falls, Dayton, Elyria, Hamilton, Lima, Lorain, Mahoning County, Newark, Portsmouth, Springfield, Toledo and Warren will be eligible for grants to $15,000 for lab equipment.

Ethics Bill Hits News

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An ethics bill passed by the legislature would ban reporters from covering state government unless they, like public officials, revealed the sources of all their income.

The ethics measure originated in the Senate.

Before the House finished rewriting it Thursday night an amendment had been added saying newsmen must file statements "of economic interest" before they can be accredited to cover the legislature "or state government in any way."

The Senate later concurred in changes made by the lower house and sent the measure to Gov. George C. Wallace. It was known whether he would sign the measure into law.

The amendment also requires newsmen to reveal the names of all their employers and to certify that they are "not employed, directly or indirectly, by any person or corporation having legislation before the state legislature and that they will not become so engaged in any of these activities while covering the state legislature or state government."

Continuing Education Courses Held At OUL

Non-credit courses will be offered at the Lancaster Campus of Ohio University this fall. Paul P. Mechling, director of Continuing Education, stated that most of the classes are scheduled to start during the week of Sept. 24.

Courses include blueprint reading, intermediate shorthand, personal typing, E.I.T. refresher, basic photography, real estate principles and practices I, real estate appraisal, review for GED tests, preparations for pre-college test, and parent effectiveness training.

Registration for these classes can be completed at Brasee Hall weekdays 8-5 and 9-12 on Saturday. For additional information call 654-6711, ext. 27.

Real estate principles and practices I and real estate law will be offered at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

It is estimated that a herd of one million caribou would produce a crop of 150,000 animals a year.

Circleville Chapter OES Honors Masons At Meeting

Masons were honored when Circleville Chapter 90, Order of the Eastern Star, met in regular session Tuesday evening in the Masonic Temple. Worthy matron, Kathryn Thomerson, welcomed all present following the summer vacation and paid a special tribute to all Masons. The tribute was concluded with a humorous reading by worthy patron, Clarence Radcliffe.

Honored guests included General Grand Chapter committee member, chairman of registration and past grand matron, Marie L. Hamilton; past matrons, Beverly Currence, Marcylyn Evans, Elaine Bowman, Margaret Shane, Mary Radcliffe; past patron, Clarence Radcliffe and honored Mason, Joseph Peters.

Invitations were received to attend Grand Visitations and Receptions at Highland Chapter 350, Utica, on Sept. 17th; Vinton Chapter 375, Vinton on Sept. 20th; Wahneta Chapter 235, Pataskala, on Sept. 25th; Woodbine Chapter 61, Pemberville, on Oct. 8th; Chillicothe Chapter 419, Chillicothe, on Nov. 17th; and invitations to 75th Anniversary celebrations of White Shield Chapter 97, Pleasantville, on Oct. 3rd; Ashland Chapter 92, Ashland, on Oct. 12th and Waverly Chapter 99, Waverly, on Oct. 13th.

A special invitation was received from Sterling Chapter 74, Mt. Sterling, to attend its meeting on Sept. 18th honoring all chaplains and marshalls, and Friendship Night meeting on Oct. 16th.

Members were urged to make reservations to attend the 84 Annual Session of the Grand Chapter of Ohio in the Cleveland Public Auditorium on Oct. 23rd, 24th and 25th. On Sunday afternoon preceding the Annual Session, the Vesper Service will be held in the Old Stone Church on the Public Square. Recipients of ESTARL awards will take part in this service. Two ESTARL awards have been made this year in our district and Circleville Chapter was commended for their interest and support of this program.

A memorial service was held and the chapter's charter was draped for 30 days in memory of Mae Tolbert, who was a fifty year member and in 1917 served as Deputy Matron.

Following the close of chapter, a social hour was enjoyed in the dining room. Refreshments were served by Joan Pettit, Mary Lou Partee, Jewel Hinton and their committee.

Preceding the next regular meeting on Sept. 25th, a covered dish dinner will be held for members and their families beginning at 6 p.m. A special program under the direction of Elaine Bowman will be presented following this meeting.

Women's Fellowship To Decorate Window For Pumpkin Show

Women's Fellowship of the Church of the Brethren met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Doyle Cupp, 1231 S. Pickaway St.

Bea Dowden welcomed the new pastor's wife, Mrs. Marion (Joyce) Nansel and made welcome others that have been absent from recent meetings. Prayer was followed by singing "Send The Light" and devotions given by Grace Strawser.

It was agreed to decorate a store window for Pumpkin Show. Serving on the committee will be: Bea Dowden, Joanne Boyer, Joyce Nansel, Barbara Donahue, Phyllis Walters and Julia Puckett.

Secret sister names were revealed and a drawing made for sisters for the coming year.

For the program Bea Dowden conducted games with prizes awarded to Virginia Cupp, Alice Dean and Arlitta McNeal.

Mrs. McNeal closed the meeting with prayer and refreshments were served by Frances Cupp and Phyllis Walters.

The next fellowship meeting will be Oct. 9th in the church basement.

Busy Bees Club Social Meeting Held In Barr Home

Roundtown Busy Bees Extension Club met Tuesday afternoon for a social meeting in the home of Mrs. Noble Barr, 160 Town St.

Present were: Mrs. V. D. Kerns, Mrs. Charles Walters, Mrs. Daniel Eitel, Mrs. Harry Lane, Miss Adelia Huffman, Mrs. C. C. Schwarz, Mrs. Nora Noise, Mrs. Garnet Ridgeway and Miss Maggie Mavis. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Barr.

The next meeting will be 11 a.m., Oct. 9th, at the home of Mrs. V. D. Kerns, 234 N. Scioto St. Members are to bring a sack lunch and Mrs. Harry Lane will be co-hostess.

Logan Elm Club

Schedules Meeting

Logan Elm Garden Club will meet 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Harold Edwards, Route 2, Laurelville. Members are to bring flowers for a workshop.

American Indians Program Topic For Esther Circle

Esther Circle of Community United Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Bennett, 551 N. Pickaway St.

Mrs. Frances Pritt presided over the business meeting. She announced the circle will assist in serving the Appreciation Dinner for the education personnel of the church and Sunday School on Sept. 26th.

Mrs. Pritt read two poems, "God" and "Let Us Give Thanks" concluding the business meeting.

Mrs. Roger Murray presented the program during which she stressed the concern we all must have for the American Indian. She told about the Navaho Tribe at Flagstaff Indian Reservation and the work the missionaries are doing there.

She read letters she and Mr. Murray had received from people there. The Sioux Indians at Rosebud, S. D., had corresponded and told of their many trials and the help missionaries had given them. She closed the program saying we should give the Indians the message of Christ. A discussion period was held.

Refreshments were served to 19 members by Mrs. Bennett assisted by Mrs. Eva Heffelfinger.

The next meeting, on Oct. 10th, will be at the home of Mrs. Ray Cundiff, 534 Garden Parkway.

Mrs. Charles Davis Feted With Shower

A surprise baby shower was held during the regular meeting of Roundtown Citizen Band Club on Monday at Red Cross headquarters, 167 Watt St. Honored was Mrs. Charles Davis following the business meeting.

Members present were: Mrs. Erma Iles, Mrs. Carolyn Davis, Mrs. Maple Wood, Mrs. Mildred Davis, Mrs. Dot Bowers, Miss Pauline Davis, Mrs. Opal Barnhart.

Mrs. Yvonne Adams, Mrs. Alice Barnhart, Mrs. Marylou Betts, Mrs. Sue Lockard and Chris, and three guests: Mrs. Emma Adkins, mother of the honoree and also her aunt, Mrs. Louise Moss and Miss Patty Runkel. Games were played with prizes won by Carolyn Davis and Erma Iles who presented them to the guest of honor.

Plans were discussed for a Halloween party on Oct. 8th at the Red Cross headquarters for children of members. Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest, most original, funniest and ugliest dressed child.

The traveling door prize brought by Sue Lockard was won by Dot Bowers.

Refreshments were served by Sue Lockard and Marylou Betts.

Junior Women Plan Projects For Coming Year

The September meeting of Circleville Junior Women's Club was held in the home of Mrs. Ronald Lundberg, 339 Meadow Lane, with Mrs. John Farthing presiding.

Guests introduced were: Mrs. Jerrell Anderson, Mrs. Leo Hall, Mrs. Robert Jenkins, Mrs. James McLeod, Mrs. William Meyers, Mrs. Robert Parker, Mrs. Archie Ward and Mrs. Richard Wilder.

Club members voted to continue with the bowling program for Brooks-Yates School students from November through March. During the months of September and October, the club will finance admission fees of the students at the Chillicothe YMCA swimming pool for one session a week.

These projects are a part of the club's efforts toward the General Federation of Women's Clubs Junior project: National Assn. of Retarded Children.

Mrs. Andre Keller and Mrs. Keith Thomerson are making plans for a sale of articles made by the blind to be held during the October meeting. Anyone wishing to order or purchase items may call 474-5750 or 474-8929.

Members will again have a pumpkin pie booth during Pumpkin Show located at the southeast corner and Court and Main Sts. The club's 1973 booth rules were read by the chairman, Mrs. Ken Sherman. Any member who has not signed up is asked to contact Mrs. Sherman at 474-8085.

An election was held for the office of treasurer with Mrs. Ronald Kay selected to fill the post.

The next meeting will be 8 p.m. Oct. 4th in the home of Mrs. Kay, Dunkle Road.

BLOOD COLLECTION — One of the key programs of the American Red Cross is its blood program. Pickaway County's participating in the program guarantees the total blood needs of all residents. The Red Cross is an agency of the Community Fund.

Local Red Cross Is Agency Of Community Fund

The Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross is one of the Community Fund agencies. The Red Cross will receive $31,500 of the total $86,350 goal set by the Community Fund this year.

Pickaway County residents are part of the Columbus Regional Blood Program, which covers 23 counties in Central Ohio, supplying 50 hospitals.

Pickaway County's participation in the Red Cross Blood Program guarantees the total blood needs of all residents of the County. Coverage also includes spouse, dependent children, parents, grandparents, parents-in-law and grandparents-in-law. This means that no charge is ever made for the blood itself — the only charge is for administration.

Total coverage is effective, however, only so long as the program is supported by the community by maintaining 90 per cent more of the quota. These quotas are determined on the basis of population and blood usage during the previous year. Each year approximately 1,000 pints of blood are used by Pickaway County residents and their families.

During 1973, the Bloodmobile is scheduled to come to Circleville 12 times. Average pints received the first nine visits were: 122. Our quota for each visit is 135 pints.

Through its Blood Program, the American Red Cross is the largest collector, processor and distributor of blood from voluntary donors. It

Half Of Demo Funds To Remain In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Half of the money collected from Ohio during the Democratic National Committee's fund-raising telethon tonight will be returned to the state organization, party officials announced.

Nearly 1,000 volunteers will man phones and tabulate pledges in Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Toledo during the six-and-one-half-hour show which will be broadcast over NBC starting at 7 p.m.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals will be received by the Hay Run Watershed Committee at the Secretary's address (George Skinner, R.F.D. 1, Clarksburg, Ohio, 43115) until 12:00 o'clock noon (E.D.S.T.) on the 26th day of September, 1973, and at 7:30 p.m. (E.D.S.T.) the same day said proposals will be publicly opened and read, for furnishing the material and performing the labor for executing the required specifications on file in the Pickaway County A.S.C. office, 1440 North Court Street, Circleville, Ohio.

Each bid must be accompanied by a 5 per cent Bid Bond and Contract Bond in the sum of 100 per cent of the amount of the bid upon awarding of the contract. This amount must be stated in dollars and cents.

Bids shall be sealed and addressed to: George C. Skinner, Secretary, Hay Run Watershed Committee, R.F.D. 1, Clarksburg, Ohio, 43115.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within thirty (30) days after the actual date of the opening thereof.

Milk Production Likely To Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk production in 1973 is expected to drop about three per cent from last year, to about 117 billion pounds, approximately what dairy farmers produced in 1970, the Agriculture Department says.

"Sharply increased feed prices are reducing output per cow, and together with high slaughter-cow prices, are encouraging a sharper decline in milk-cow numbers," the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Thursday.

The estimate of reduced milk production comes as no surprise to dairy farmers who have seen feed costs rise phenomenally in the past year. In August, the department said the average cost of 100 pounds of dairy-cow ration was $6.06 compared with $3.49 a year earlier, a 74 per cent increase.

Meanwhile, the department said in a report Tuesday, prices paid farmers for milk averaged $6.88 per hundredweight, a record high but still only 15 per cent higher than a year ago.

Milk production has risen steadily since 1969 as the relationship between milk prices and feed costs produced good profits for dairy farmers. But

Phone Firm Complains

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — General Telephone Co. of Ohio complained to the National Labor Relations Board here Friday about contract negotiations with the Communications Workers of America.

The company filed papers with the federal agency which said the union reneged on a handshake agreement to end a strike by 2,800 employees which began July 16.

General Telephone officials said the agreement reached last weekend in the presence of a federal mediator should be binding.

Early this week, a union leader said a "last minute hitch" put off settlement of the strike.

Company officials said later that the international union refused to accept the agreement reached.

Ohio To Seek Cash For Crime Control

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio will seek nearly $30 million in Omnibus Crime Control Act funds for 1974 from the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Judge John Corrigan of Cleveland, chairman of the Governor's Criminal Justice Supervisory Committee, said Friday $25 million would be used for improving Ohio's courts, law enforcement and correctional agencies. The remainder would be spent on minority requirement, corrections and other areas, he said.

Otterbein College Has Jazz Quartet

Otterbein College Artist Series welcomes The New York Jazz Quartet. The Quartet opens in Cowan Hall Friday night at 8:15 p.m.

Known as an exciting new force in jazz circles, the Quartet combines the talents of four well-qualified musicians to form a jazz group considered to be one of the best in the nation today.

Ron Carter, Roland Hanna, Ben Riley and Frank Wess make up the group. Their selections include original compositions as well as old favorites. Each of the musicians is individually published and recorded and together their music is fresh, vital and exciting.

Playbill for the Otterbein College Theatre includes "A Midsummer Night's Dream", Oct. 10-13; "Six Characters In Search of An Author", Feb. 6-9; "Desire Under the Elms", March 6-9; and "Kiss Me Kate", May 15-18. The annual Children's Theatre will present "The Story Theatre of Hans Christian Anderson" Nov. 16-18.

Further information and tickets for both activities can be obtained at the box office, 1-4 p.m. weekdays or by calling 891-3331.

spiralling feed costs now have sent those gains in a tailspin.

"Cash receipts from dairying this year may total $7.8 billion, up from $7.2 billion in 1972," the report said.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
A high pressure system moving eastward from Missouri is expected to bring fair to partly cloudy skies to Ohio tonight and Sunday with little change in temperatures.

The overnight lows will be in the upper 40s to low 50s and Sunday's highs will be in the upper 60s and low 70s.

The National Weather Service says looking ahead, below normal temperatures can be expected Monday to Wednesday with a chance of showers Monday or Tuesday.

Patches of fog were reported across the State Friday night and early Saturday in some valleys and temperatures ranged from 44 at Toledo to 61 at Chesapeake along the Ohio River.

"However, production costs, particularly feed costs, are rising even faster."

The USDA could not estimate how profits from dairying this year might stack up with 1972, only that "obviously there will be a drop" from last year.

Some adjustments in government price supports for milk have been made, including an increase of 80 per cent of parity for the support of manufacturing grade milk as ordered by Congress in the new farm law.

Recently, USDA announced a temporary boost for the remainder of September in the minimum rates dealers must pay farmers in federal milk marketing orders.

In most cases, however, the two actions have not affected actual prices dairy farmers get since the market price already is higher than the floors established by the government.

The National Farmers Union, among others, has called for the price support rate to be raised to the maximum of 90 per cent of parity under the law and that the administration should restrict imports of dairy products to reduce competition for U.S. producers.

Vikings Conquer Tigers In Thriller, 15-14

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Steve Williams split the uprights with a field goal from the 22-yard line late in the fourth quarter to give Teays Valley a 15-14 victory over the Circleville Tigers Friday night on the Vikings' turf before a standing-room-only crowd.

Williams' kick put the cap on the scoring in a game that had the crowd limp and exhausted at the finish.

Chuck Glitt tallied on a 3-yard run and hit Steve Williams with a seven-yard pass to account for the Viking touchdowns.

Circleville's scores came on a 72-yard touchdown run by Eddy Richter with an intercepted pass and a 67-yard pass play from Perry Hoskins to Rick Sampill. Phil Roll kicked both conversions.

But it was the Vikings who dominated the game and controlled the football to gain the win. Teays Valley not only won the game but took care of most of the statistics in doing it.

The Blue and Gold picked up 18 first downs, eight rushing, nine passing and one by penalty, while the Tigers had two rushing, one passing and one by penalty.

Teays Valley rolled up 168 yards on the ground and went to the air for 130 more for a total of 298.

Circleville gained 65 yards on the ground and 90 through the air lanes for a total of 155.

"The key to the win was the way we controlled the football and made the big fourth down plays," Teays Valley coach Dick Kidwell commented. "Our kids stuck in there and came up with the best offensive and defensive plays when we needed them."

Kidwell singled out the fine running of Mike Pettibone from his fullback slot and the poise of quarterback Chuck Glitt under the pressure of the pass rush put on by the Tigers.

The Viking coaching staff had high praise for the defensive work of Steve Gray, Brad Black, Bill Hurley, Lance Henson and Keith Pettibone who continually stymied the offensive efforts of Circleville.

Pettibone, playing with an injured arm, gained 96 yards behind the blocking of Hurley and Keith Pettibone on the Viking trap play.

But despite the big difference in the offensive statistics, the Tigers managed to hang in there on the two electrifying runs of Richter and Sampill.

"I want to congratulate Teays Valley on a fine ball game," Circleville coach Larry Cook said. "They showed that they wanted the game more than we did and they deserved to win."

"We couldn't come with decent field position in the second half and we lost our poise when we had to have it," Cook continued. "Now it becomes a challenge to see if our kids have the quality to bounce back after this setback," Cook stated.

Richter, the tough Tiger tailback, carried the brunt of the attack as he picked up 53 of the total yards gained on the ground by Circleville.

The defense of the Tigers was led by Scott Bowman, Keith Davis, Reggie Radcliff and Pat McNaughton.

Teays Valley took the opening kickoff and began to set the pace of the game as they moved from their own 26 to the Tiger 43-yard stripe in seven plays with Glitt's passing and Lambert's running moving the ball.

But on the next play, Circleville's Mike Speakman picked off a Glitt aerial and the Tigers had the ball on the Vikings 45 yard line.

Richter battered and bashed his way through the Vikings to give the Tigers a first down on the 15. However, the staunch Viking defense rose to the challenge and refused to budge. Phil Roll's field goal attempt sailed to the right of the uprights and the Vikings took over on their own 20.

With Mike Pettibone and Lambert hauling the freight, Teays Valley moved deep into Circleville territory.

Suddenly the tide turned and Richter grabbed a stray aerial by Glitt and was off and running for 72 yards and the first score of the game. Roll's kick split the uprights and the Tigers were on top 7-0 with 20 seconds left in the first quarter.

Both teams played their next two series near midfield without doing any damage.

With 4:29 left in the half the Vikings once again took over the ball on their own 37. This time they got the job done.

Mike Pettibone and Lambert began to rip into the center of the Circleville defense. Then Glitt began a fine job of scrambling as he looked down field for receivers. He found what he was looking for and connected with Lambert and Williams on several key pass plays and the Vikings rolled to a first down on the Tiger three-yard marker.

Glitt rolled to his right on the next play and turned the corner into paydirt. A pass attempt on the conversion was no good and the Tigers held a narrow 7-6 lead with 19 seconds remaining in the half.

Circleville mishandled the second half kickoff and ended up with the ball on its own six-yard line.

Failing to get anything going the Tigers were forced to punt and the Vikings had possession on the Circleville 35.

This time the Vikings were not to be denied. With Henson and Mike Pettibone blasting into the Tiger defense, Teays Valley moved to a first down on the Red and Black nine.

Two plays later, Glitt found Williams open in the middle and laid the ball in his hands for six points. Again the Vikings were thwarted on the extra point attempt as the Tigers came alive and smothered the ball carrier.

Now the Vikings were on top, 12-7, with 5:52 left in the third period.

The rest of the quarter was pretty much of a stalemate and the Vikings held their lead going into the final period.

Circleville regained possession with 11:22 remaining on the clock in the final stanza.

But now it was time for the Tigers fans to come alive. On the second play, Hoskins dropped back and hit Sampill on the right sideline with an aerial. The speedy Tiger turned on the afterburner and outran everyone for 67 yards and a Tiger touchdown. Roll kicked the conversion and Circleville was out in front, 14-12, with 10:37 to go.

However, the Vikings had ideas of their own and started to move from their own 32. Glitt connected with Henson and Lambert on Key aerials and Mike Pettibone again ate up yardage up the middle on several trap plays to move into Tiger territory.

With fourth and three on the Circleville 34 the Vikings went for the first down. The Tigers stopped the ball carrier but fate frowned on them as the ball was fumbled forward into the arms of a Viking and it was first down for Teays Valley on the Circleville 30.

The Tigers held. But on fourth and nine, Glitt found Lambert over the middle on a scrambling pass and the Vikings had a first down on the Tiger 14.

Now the Tiger defense got stubborn and the Vikings had a fourth and four on the Circleville eight.

Teays Valley called on Williams and he calmly split the uprights to put the Vikings out in front, 15-14, with 3:18 showing on the clock.

The Tigers refused to play dead and returned the kickoff to mid-field. Richter began to slam his way into the Viking defense and the Tigers moved to the Viking 26.

Hoskins connected with John Ankrom on the left side and the Tiger end raced into the endzone. But an offside penalty against the Tigers nullified the score and the ball was brought back.

The Viking defense held and the Tigers turned over the football with 41 seconds remaining. Teays Valley killed the clock and it was all over. But everyone there realized they had seen one whale of a ball game between a couple of fine football teams.

Braves Blanked By Millersport

The Logan Elm Braves couldn't penetrate Millersport defense in their first appearance in the Mid Satate League Friday, losing to the visiting Lakers, 22-0.

Logan Elm had only three first downs, two by rushing and one by penalty, gained only two yards through the air, a pass from Steve Sargent to Jeff Reichelderfer, and only 49 yards on the ground.

Dan Ramey was the leading ball carrier for Logan Elm, picking up 26 yards in eight carries.

Millersport scored in the first quarter on a two-yard plunge by Eric Alexander, at the opening of second half on an 86-yard kick off return, again by Alexander, on a safety in the third quarter and an eight-yard run by Alexander in the fourth quarter.

The big Laker fullback, a 6-foot-3 205 pound senior ran in the style of Ohio State fullback Champ Henson, over and through the opposition.

He gained 81 yards in the game in addition to figuring in most of the scoring. However, the leading groundgainer for the Lakers was halfback Kurt Kremer with 100 yards.

Steve Zimmerman gained 38 yards for the Lakers and it was his punting that kept the Braves deep in their own territory most of the night. He also converted two of three extra point tries.

Zimmerman set up the first touchdown for the Lakers by booming a 46-yard punt to the Logan Elm two early in the game.

The Braves could not get moving and were forced to punt on the fourth down from their own two. The kick went only to the 30-yard stripe, and from there the visitors scored in six plays. Zimmerman's try for the extra point after Alexander's touchdown gave Millersport a 7-0 lead with four minutes to go in the first quarter.

The rest of the first half was played on Logan Elm's end of the playing field. In fact, the Braves were never able to penetrate into Laker territory during the entire game.

Logan Elm kicker Wes King booted the opening kickoff of the second half to Alexander at the Millersport 14-yard stripe.

Alexandar headed for the right sideline and rambled the length of the field, bowling over would be Logan Elm tacklers on his touchdown jaunt. The kick for the extra points was wide of its mark.

With about four minutes to go in the third quarter, Logan Elm held the Lakers at the four-yard line. But on the Braves' first try with the ball Kremer broke through the LE forward wall to tackle Wayne Linthicum in the end zone for the two pointer.

Millersport scored again with 1:30 to go in the game. The touchdown drive began on the Logan Elm 43-yard line and was capped by Alexander's eight-yard plunge. Zimmerman's kick was good.

Two Logan Elm players were injured, Steve Rawlins and Steve Sargent, both head injuries. Wayne Linthicum sustained a leg cramp early in the second half and did not see much action. Sophomore quarterback Bob Sargent filled in for his brother as signal caller during the fourth quarter.

Logan Elm now has a 0-2 record, is 0-1 in the MID State and faces Canal Winchester on the road next Friday.

Mistakes, Injuries Hurt Aces

Amanda-Clearcreek lost to Fairfield Union, 7-6, in Mid State League action Friday, a loss attributed to "green mistakes" by Ace Coach Jim Flanagan.

The Aces played a fine game according to their coach but were hampered by mistakes and the loss of two players, senior captain Rod Brobst and sophomore end Jim Smith, both starters.

It was a true defensive battle all the way. Fairfield Union's Winegardner plunged over from the five-yard line with about eight minutes to go in the game for the first TD of the game. Jones booted the extra point.

With the Falcons deep in their own territory late in the game, Chuck Cahitos broke through to block a punt and recovered it in the endzone to give Amanda-Clearcreek its touchdown with a little over a minute in the game.

The Aces went for the win, faking a kick and attempting a pass for the extra two points but the try failed.

Amanda-Clearcreek has a 2 record and Fairfield Union a 1-1 mark. Next week the Aces play at Berne Union, defending Mid State League champion.

Preseason Tilts Costly To Bengals

DENVER (AP) — Paul Brown might have termed his 4-2 pre-season campaign a success had it not been so costly.

"The bottom has fallen out," the Cincinnati Bengal Coach says. "It's not encouraging heading into the season opener with so many injuries. It's hampered our work."

The Bengals climaxed their exhibition season with a 13-10 triumph over Green Bay last week, their third straight victory of the pre-season.

Six Bengal players, however, begin the regular season with injuries Sunday when Cincinnati meets the Denver Broncos at Mile High Stadium, and two of the wounded are serious.

Backup quarterback Virgil Carter is lost for the season with a broken collarbone sustained in the Packer game. Wide receiver Charlie Joiner is out indefinitely with a knee injury.

Twice-retired Greg Cook, who hasn't played in a game in three years, has been activated as backup to quarterback Ken Anderson. "Cook is not what he used to be as a passer," Brown admitted, but Cook knows the system better than recently acquired Tim Van Galder, who's now listed as the No. 3 quarterback.

Pro Sports Blackouts Are Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Football fans in eight cities will be able to watch their home pro teams on television Sunday under a new law lifting TV blackouts on sold-out home pro games.

President Nixon, one of the nation's best-known football buffs, signed the anti-blackout legislation Friday, about 24 hours after it had won final approval by Congress.

The bill-signing may have been a bit anticlimatic, since National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle had issued an order the day before lifting the blackout for Sunday's 1973 NFL season openers.

Rozelle said he lifted the ban because it had become clear the bill was going to pass, even though he still opposed the measure.

There are 12 NFL games this Sunday and eight of them are sold out and will be shown on local television. They are Houston and the Giants in New York, Dallas at Chicago, Detroit at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Kansas City, Oakland at Minnesota, St. Louis at Philadelphia Cincinnati at Denver, and San Diego at Washington.

The measure applies for three years—although it can be renewed by Congress after the three-year period is up.

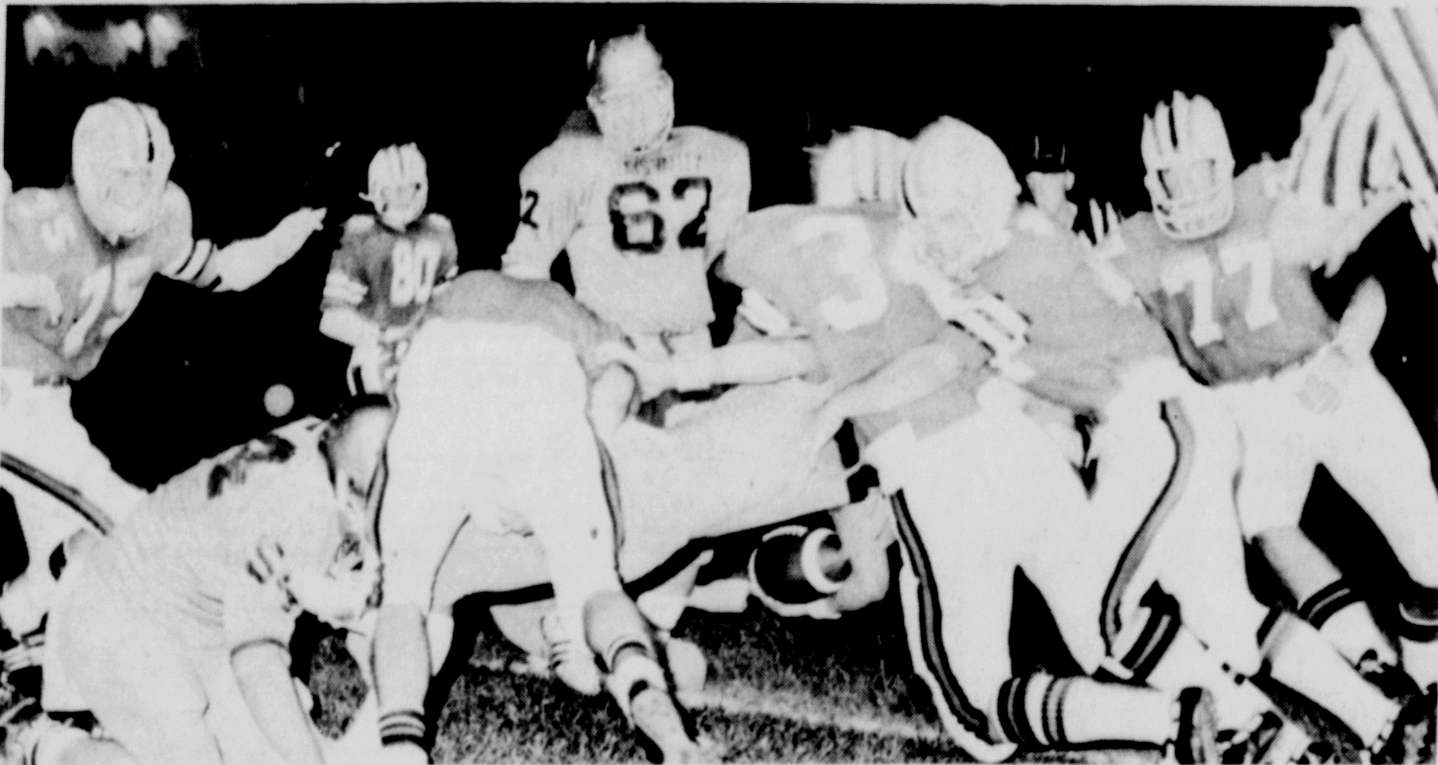

It also applies to pro basketball, baseball and hockey.

Local Quarter Horse

Wins At Beulah Park

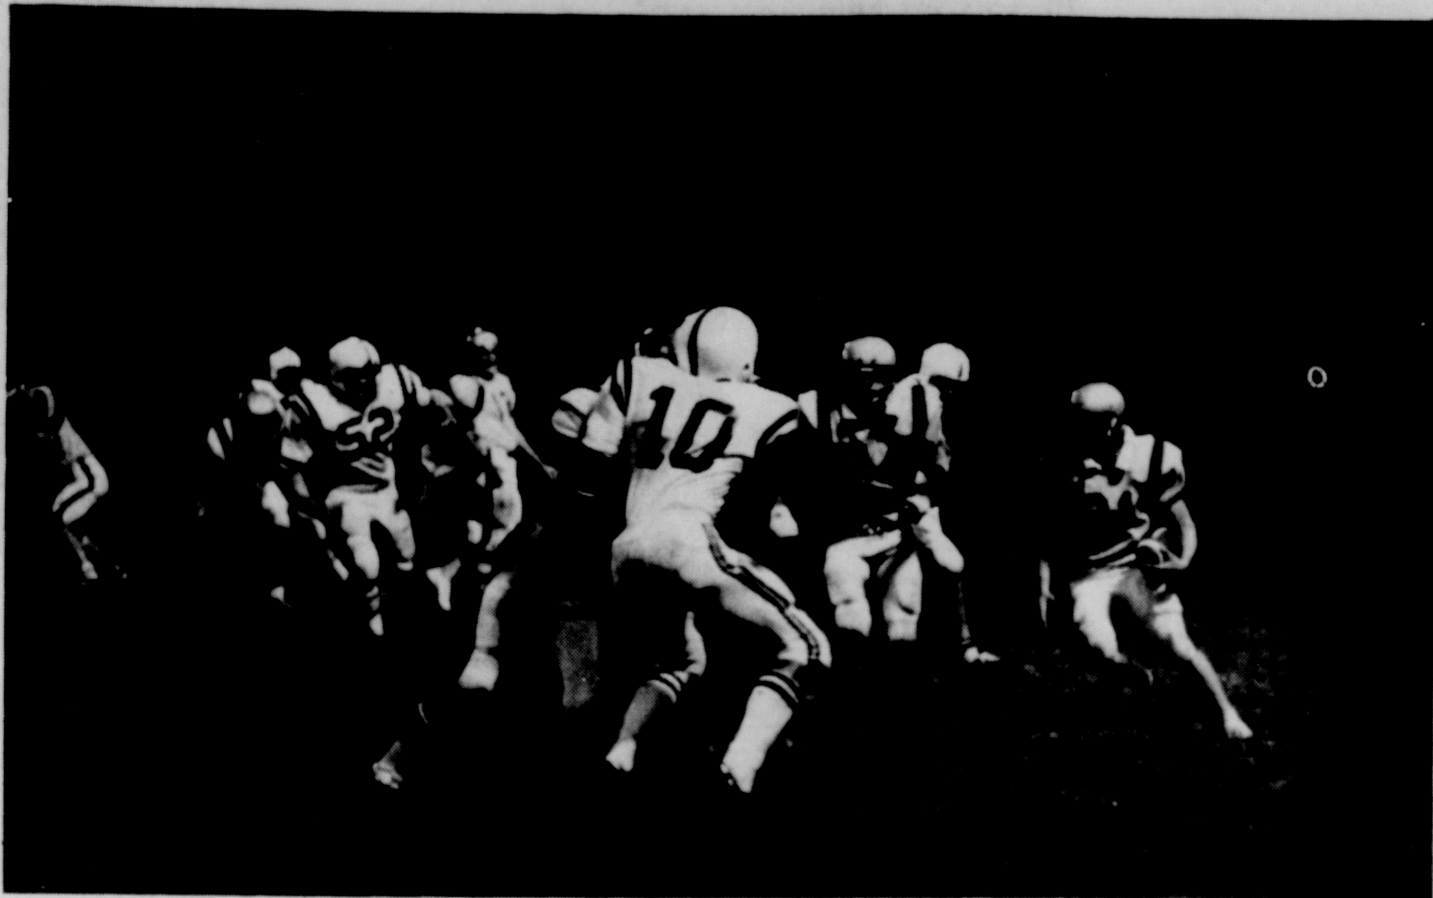

Dial's Muchacha, a quarter horse owned and trained by Bob Beckman, Route 2, Ashville, won the first race at Beulah Park Friday.

Ridden by Monte Pratt, Dial's Muchacha dashed 350 yards in 18.65 seconds, paying $36.20, $19 and $10 at the mutual windows. It was Pratt's first career win.

Westfall Mustangs clipped the Golden Eagles of Madison Plains, 16-14, in a penalty filled game on the Eagles turf.

Both teams were evenly matched in statistics with Westfall leading 300 in total yards rushing and Madison Plains 297. Madison Plains completed six passes for 41 yards while Westfall completed two for 30 yards.

Westfall booted the opening kickoff to start the game rolling.

Getting into a fourth down situation, Madison Plains punted to Westfall but the Mustangs punted back to the Eagles.

Westfall scored the first touchdown with 28 seconds left in the first quarter, on a pitch from Dave Shannon to Gary Thompson, who then passed the ball to Randy Hildenbrand, for the six points.

Joe Angles made the two point conversion to bring the score to 8-0 in favor of the Mustangs at the end of the quarter.

The Eagles began the second quarter with the ball on their own 45-yard line, only to have to punt.

Changing hands again Madison Plains fumbled the ball and Westfall recovered just to punt back to Madison Plains where they began to sparkle in the game.

In spite of a 15-yard penalty and a

Recommend Lower Hockey Draft Age

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League will recommend to the governing bodies of major amateur hockey groups of Canada and the United States that the age when players can be drafted be lowered from 20 to 18, NHL President Clarence Campbell said Friday.

The board of governors of the NHL met in executive session here to discuss among other things the future of the pool of juniors the NHL taps in its annual draft.

Quarterback Mike Boryla of Stanford is the son of former basketball star Vince Boryla of Denver.

fourth down situation, the Eagles scored on a hand off from Jeff Terry to Rick Forrest who lateraled the ball to Thom Barker. Barker carried the ball into the endzone.

The extra point kick failed leaving the Eagles trailing 8-6 at half-time.

The third and fourth quarters were plagued with offsetting 15-yard penalties. Westfall was assessed 145 yards and the Eagles 160 yards for a total of 305 yards in penalties, during the entire game.

Getting penalties out of the way, the Eagles came back to score a touchdown with 4:10 left in the game.

Quarterback Jeff Terry fumbled the ball but the alertness of Barry Gallagher was shown as he picked up the pigskin to carry it in for the score.

The quarterback sneak, for the two extra points, placed the Eagles in the lead for the first time, 14-8.

Madison Plains kicked to Westfall with Gary Thompson grabbing the ball on the seven yard line, fumbling it but quickly recovering he raced 93 yards for a Mustang touchdown to tie the game.

Artie Dick ran the ball in for two extra points putting the Mustangs back on top 16-14 with 3:53 left in the game.

The last three minutes did not contain much action as again penalties highlighted the game. Next Friday the Mustangs host Adena.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day and evening to plan your future on very practical levels and to make a budget that is more suitable to your current needs and requirements. Your intuitive perceptions of a down-to-earth nature are very accurate, and if you are still for a little while, you get the right answers. Make residence more attractive

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are thinking in a very practical fashion now, even where the spiritual is concerned, which is good. Sit down and figure out your debts and possible collections while you have the free time. Handle them wisely tomorrow

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A day and evening for doing just what you please, so schedule your time and activities well in a m. Get in touch with those you want to see or talk to on the phone. Get the right results via courtesy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Meditation will reveal to you meaning in those things you do not now understand, then you can guide your life more intelligently. Show devotion to close ties. Television can be very rewarding now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact good friends who have your interests at heart and vice versa and make this a happy and profitable day and p.m. Show your importance at social gatherings. Do not sit on the sidelines.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Getting together with the influential as much as possible now is wise. Gain their goodwill, trust. Take some part in whatever is of a philanthropic nature. Show you are a humanitarian.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Sitting down with persons of much wisdom and intellect proves most profitable now and you come to a fine understanding. Gain much from their background, experience. Early to bed tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make use of your intuitive hunches in a most constructive way and you get ahead faster. Loved one looks with favor upon you, so make the most of this, also. Do some reading that can be broadening.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Sitting down with a most dynamic associate quietly today can bring fine results for the future. You have an opportunity to get into civic work that can be most profitable. Avoid one who is unfriendly to your best interests

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a chance to do some important things today that make the future brighter. Some new health methods can prove very beneficial. Try to be more thoughtful of those at home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This can be a most happy day and evening for you provided you first attend services or meditate and then be with worthwhile persons. Find the right outlets for creative ideas. Keep temper under control.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Showing more thoughtfulness for those who live with you is wise so there is more harmony there. Entertain important members of your community. Show you are a fine host, hostess.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are able to contact those who can help you advance more quickly in the future and talk ideas out. Attend the lectures, etc., that will renew your spirit, make you feel happier. Have many friends in p.m.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will want to mull over things too long, so it would be well to give right diet and sports to tone up the system so the mind works faster, then decisions will be reached more quickly. Otherwise your child could very well miss the bus in life. A fine chart for the banker, the real estate operator, or whatever has to do with property and management.

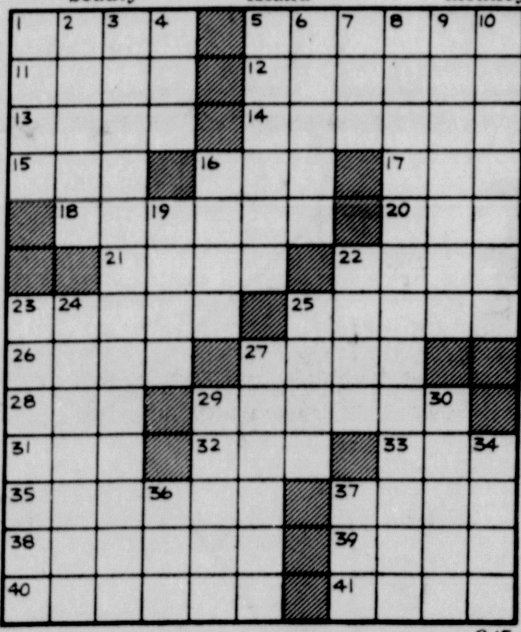

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Aussies Short Of Cattle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An indication that a world-wide beef shortage exists is provided in a report that beef production in Australia, the leading exporter of meat to the United States, declined in July.

The Agriculture Department reported Wednesday that imports of Australian beef in July were only 52.0 million pounds compared with 58.7 million in July last year.

The report showed the cumulative total of Australian beef imports through July this year was down 3 per cent from the first seven months of 1972.

Other supplying countries, however, increased their supply which resulted in a 5 per cent boost during the January-July period last year.

About 18 months ago President Nixon suspended meat import quotas to allow more low quality beef to enter the country in hopes that larger supplies would mean lower consumer prices. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz estimated then that imports of quota-type meat would be about 1.450 billion pounds this year.

Youths Lose Licenses

A variety of cases were heard in the Pickaway County Juvenile Court this past week. Among these were traffic offenders who lost their licenses.
Rocky E. S. Conley, 16, Route 3, Mt. Sterling was sentenced to pay $50 fine and court costs and had his license suspended for three months for operating a motor vehicle without a valid license. Judge Guy Cline suspended $40 of the fine. The youth had been arrested by the Sheriff's deputy Bill Huffman.
Failure to turn in a license for suspension brought another suspension to James S. Hall, Route 1, Orient. Hall's license had been suspended for 30 days with privilege to drive to work on a conviction Aug. 29, for fictitious tags. When the lad failed to relinquish his license, the court ordered them suspended indefinitely.
A seventeen-year-old Circleville boy was ordered into the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission for using a false identification card.
Pickaway's County Children's Services ordered emergency care for the seven month child of David and Wanda Lacy.
Mattie Bahsam, Route 3, appeared in juvenile court on charges of contributing to the unruliness of a minor. She was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 with $400 suspended, received a six month suspended jail sentence and was placed on probation for a period of three years.
In final action, the court ordered Richard Brink, 327 N. Scioto St. to pay support and rearing to Connie Coleman on bastardy charges.

Tires Cut By Culprits

Ralph Sounik, Columbus, reported culprits did damage to his auto parked on State Route 104 just ½ mile south of Route 22 sometime between 3:45 p.m. and 8:10 p.m. Friday.
According to the report taken by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown, the right front and rear tires were cut and fender skirt removed from the car which was left under the car. The culprits also did damage to the valve stems.
Damage to the auto was estimated at $50.

Democratic Party Telethon Aims At Campaign Chest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Democratic party tests its post-Watergate financial pull tonight with a nationwide telethon to pay off the party's debts and raise funds for 1974 elections.
There is little doubt regarding the Democrats' thrust. The leadoff speaker is Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., chairman of the Senate committee investigating the Watergate affair.
"We expect Watergate to cause greater donations than ever before," says John Y. Brown Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Telethon.
"The whole Watergate scandal proved the need to support political parties by a broad base of small donations," he said. "If such a system had been in effect, Watergate never would have happened."
Brown, who made his fortune popularizing a fried-chicken chain, was the instigator of last year's Democratic telethon. The event raised $4 million from 400,000 donors, he said. This time he's hoping for $6 million, because of Watergate and better organization.

Proposal For Tax Surcharge Dies In Hail Of Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ten per cent income tax surcharge is not under active consideration by the Nixon administration despite a White House official's suggestion to the contrary, the top aide to Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says. Furthermore, deputy Secretary William E. Simon said it is "not relevant" to suggest that Shultz will be leaving his post because of the highly publicized differences over taxes with President Nixon's chief domestic adviser, Melvin R. Laird.
While Shultz was away in Tokyo attending a trade meeting, Laird held a news conference Thursday to say that the surcharge is under consideration by the administration as a way to cool inflation.
The proposal would call for the taxes to be refunded after inflation abated and the economy slowed down. It is commonly known as a compulsory savings plan.
Shultz, after Simon telephoned Laird's remarks to him, criticized the proposal and suggested that Laird should "keep his cotton-pickin' hands off economic policy."
"Like every subject, there are differences of opinion," Simon said in an interview. But he said the President feels that the American people pay enough taxes and he responded with a flat "no" when asked if the proposal is under serious consideration.
"Was it a trial balloon?"
"I don't think so," Simon replied. He said that the administration is flexible on economic proposals and that various proposals are under constant discussion.
He repeated Shultz's objection to tax proposals, saying that by the time any tax bill passed Congress it would be too late to do any good, and would only encourage increased government spending.

Fast Food Rival Robs Competitor

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The manager of a fast food restaurant was scheduled for arraignment today on a charge of robbing an agent for a rival chain Labor Day in which $3,000 was taken.
Clinton Jackson, 38, of Covington, Ky., manager of the Famous Recipe Fried Chicken restaurant in the Avondale section was charged with armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon.
Police said a gunman took the money from Lottie Maye, 19, an employee of a nearby Frisch's Restaurant as she drove into a bank parking lot to deposit receipts.

Quake Hits California

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — An earthquake has struck five central California counties, shaking buildings and rattling windows.
Residents of Fresno, Tulare, Mono, Inyo and Kern counties felt the shock, which occurred shortly after 6 p.m. Friday and lasted two to four seconds.
No injuries or damage were reported immediately.
The California State Warning System indicated the quake's center was located 40 to 50 miles south of Fresno and registered 4.3 on the Richter scale, according to Fresno County sheriff's deputies.
In Richter measurements, an earthquake of 7.0 is 10 times more severe than one of 6.0, which in turn is 10 times greater than one of 5.0. A 4.3 quake can cause damage.

Blame Fireworks For Fatal Blast

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, Ky. (AP) — Federal authorities said an explosion that killed two men here Friday was apparently caused by homemade fireworks.
Killed were Bernard Jones, 31, Covington, and Robert Phirman, 51.
Firemen said the blast occurred in a shed in Phirman's back yard. He was arrested July 4 on a charge of selling fireworks, police said.
Metropolitan Toronto has more than 10,000 acres of parkland.

Undersea Volcano Erupts Off Japan

TOKYO (AP) — An undersea volcano is hurling massive rocks 100 feet in the air and forming a doughnut-shaped island 600 miles south of Tokyo, the Maritime Safety Agency reported today.
The volcano was discovered erupting 3½ months ago and since has built an island more than 120 feet above sea level.
The agency said the island has a 200-foot diameter and is growing rapidly. Volcanologist Joyo Kosaka said that, if the activity continues, a solid island could develop.

Bodies Identified

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Police have identified the bodies of three young Toledo boys they pulled from a city swimming pool Friday.
The victims were identified as Woodrow Quinn, 12; Vincent McGary, 9, and his brother, Quinton, 7.
The pool manager said the pool had been closed a month earlier, locked and bolted.

SOUNDESIGN DELUXE 2 SPEAKER SYSTEM

FOR COMPONENT SYSTEMS

This model, incorporating applied science and rigid construction makes available to listeners advances found only in the most sophisticated speaker system. The cabinet is somewhat unconventional in that, rather than being completely enclosed, it has a cellular horn bass duct vented enclosure. Bass reflex cabinets are seldom used in bookshelf speaker systems, but in the case of an unusually efficient speaker system such as this it is the best technique for maintaining effectiveness down into the low bass range without rolloff.
